CAMPAIGN ENTERS HOWE STRETCH

GOP's Foreign Affairs Record Hit By Truman

President Winds Up
Eastern Campaign,
Heads For St. Louis

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Truman said tonight a Republican victory would end the hopes of people yearning for peace in a world where minds of Soviet leaders hold vast "misinformation and misunderstanding."

In the final foreign policy speech of his campaign, Mr. Truman smashed directly at the GOP record on foreign affairs and answered indirectly Premier Stalin's charge that the United States has been party to a policy of "unleashing a new war."

He repeated previous statements that "I do not believe war is inevitable." And he promised to explore every possible means "to avert hostilities or to prevent international aggression."

He repeated, too, predictions that in this election the Democrats are "going to win."

No Retreat On Civil Rights
The address was delivered at a traditional Democratic Party rally in the Brooklyn Academy of Music.

It capped a day of feverish campaigning around New York City and outlying Yonkers—a day that produced for thousands of Harlem negroes a pledge there will be no retreat on the controversial civil rights issue of anti-lynching and anti-poll tax.

Police estimated that 1,345,000 persons saw him on his daytime travels.

Then, in the academy speech, Mr. Truman took an entirely different line—foreign policy. The heart and soul of this country's foreign policy, he said, is peace.

He said the guiding principle is international co-operation and the most important feature is strengthening the United Nations.

"The leaders of the Soviet Union are the victims of their own iron curtain," the President said.

"There is a vast amount of misinformation and misunderstanding in the minds of those who control the destinies of the Russian people," he said.

Refers To Vinson Affair
One of his problems, he said, is to pierce the iron curtain and impress the truth on Russian leaders.

"We must try to get them to understand," he said, "that our people are united in what we think is right, that we have no evil intentions, that we stand firmly behind the United Nations."

Evidently referring to an abandoned plan to send Chief Justice Vinson to the Supreme Court to talk with Stalin, the President said he had been misled by the reciprocal trade agreements program and having tried to turn the European recovery program from one of "world reconstruction to one of hand-out relief."

Britain's Steel Industry Facing Nationalization
LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Labor government proposed today to take over Britain's iron and steel business from the production of ore to the making of needles and pins and railroad rails.

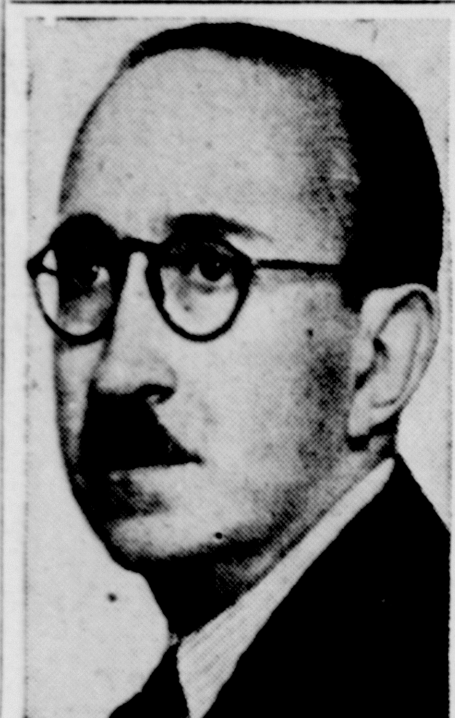

In May, 1950, the government would become owner of about three-fifths of the industry, under terms of a controversial nationalization bill. This would be accomplished by organizing a government holding corporation and buying the stock of 107 companies at an estimated cost of $200,000,000 ($1,200,000,000). The companies are capitalized at $195,000,000 ($780,000,000).

Publication of the bill today signaled the beginning of what is expected to be a long parliamentary wrangle between Conservatives and Laborites. The Labor Party holds roughly a two-to-one majority in the House of Commons, making the option of the legislation virtually certain.

Companies to be nationalized, including their wholly owned subsidiaries, now employ about 300,000 of Britain's 495,000 iron and steel workers.

Security Council Defers Proposed Israel Crackdown

Ross Denies Truman
Asked Action Delay

PARIS, Oct. 29 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council shunted to a subcommittee a proposed crackdown on Israel today. Reliable informants said the action resulted from an overnight message from President Truman to the American delegation.

An informant in a position to know said the President had not sent a direct order to the delegation, but had asked for an explanation of the American position on a British-Chinese resolution permitting penalties against Israel if she refuses to withdraw from newly won positions in the Negev Desert.

This was said to be in line with the President's policy of being informed on every delegation move in the Palestine case before it is taken.

Earlier, other sources in close touch with Palestine developments said the President had reversed Secretary of State Marshall and ordered him not to support the resolution.

Ross Denies Report
Sources with the United States delegation in Paris, at the White House and in New York with President Truman refused to comment.

In New York, Charles G. Ross, Mr. Truman's press secretary, was asked to comment on reports that the President had ordered action on economic sanctions against Israel postponed until after next Tuesday's election.

(Ross declared "I categorically deny that. It is untrue." He declined any comment on the report that Mr. Truman had ordered Marshall not to support the British-Chinese resolution.)

Shortly afterward Secretary Marshall left for London by special plane on what a United States Embassy spokesman in London said was a "purely personal and private visit."

Informed British sources however, said Prime Minister Attlee and Foreign Secretary Bevin probably will discuss with Marshall the co-ordination of British and American policies on Palestine.

Situation Changed Overnight
In New York it was announced by United Jewish Appeal headquarters that Henry Morgenthau, Jr., former Secretary of the Treasury, had asked the President to instruct the United States delegation to oppose sanctions against Israel.

Morgenthau is now in Tel Aviv. Canadian sources said the situation changed overnight.

"All indications yesterday were that the Americans would support the Anglo-Chinese resolution," said the Canadians. "Today it was obvious that the Americans were not going to support the resolution."

The Canadians said they then sponsored the move to hand the issue to a subcommittee because it was obvious the resolution would not get a large majority.

He was seized by New York detectives before he could make known what he wanted.

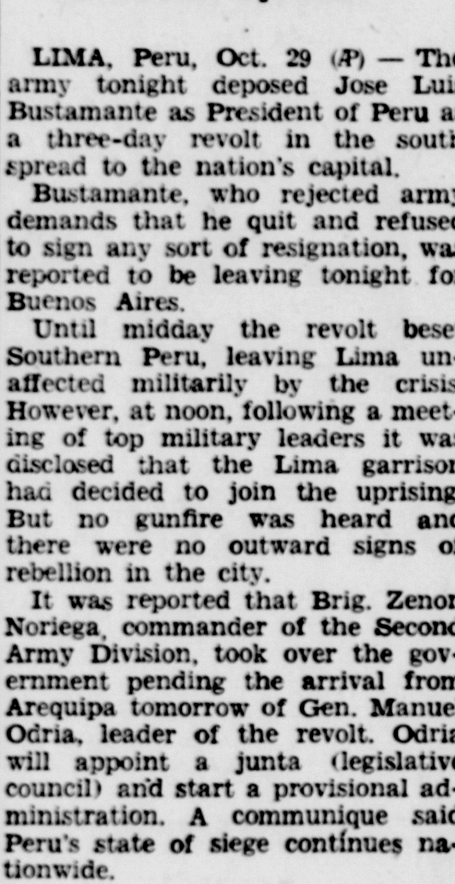

For a time it seemed as though the man might have been intending an attack on the President, but police said it was determined he wished only to have Mr. Truman autograph a photo of the battleship Missouri.

The autograph seeker was described as about 30 years old. Because they said no charges would be preferred against him, police declined to further identify the man except to say:

"He's just an ordinary New York fellow who works for a living."

THEY DISAGREED--

When Dewey Frazier (top) and George Ford (bottom), both of Miami, Fla., couldn't agree on ownership of a rowboat both were using, Frazier sawed off the end he claimed and took it home. It included the motor. Frazier now faces charges of malicious destruction of private property.

Convict Due For Release Begs To Stay In Prison

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 29 (AP)—A convict due for release next Thursday from Stateville Prison today begged the warden to keep him at least six months longer.

The prisoner, Arthur Martin Hiller, 29, said he is studying for the ministry and needs six months more study of Bible and theology "to go out from here with my two feet planted on the ground and my face looking up to God."

But Warden Ragen said the letter of the law would be carried out, and that Hiller would be forced to leave the prison next Thursday, when his sentence expires.

Raging, Chiang's
Spokesman Says
Communist Victory
Claims Countered

PEIPING, Saturday, Oct. 30 (AP)—A spokesman for Chiang Kai-Shek, counteracting Communist claims of a major disaster for government forces in Manchuria, announced today that the fighting was locked in major battles which will decide China's bitter civil war.

At stake immediately are the big industrial city of Mukden and the remaining ports of exit if Chiang gives the order to withdraw entirely from Manchuria. On a larger scale, failure in Manchuria would endanger all of North China and important segments of Central China.

Some reports estimated 400,000 men were involved on both sides in the fighting.

Chiang's spokesmen in North China neither affirmed nor denied the Communist claim Reds had destroyed five national armies in the Tachuan-Heishan area, 70 miles west of Mukden. The broadcast hailed this as the Reds' greatest victory of the civil war.

(News of a serious government defeat in Manchuria heightened tension in Nanking, where many people already were openly discussing possibility the government may move its capital elsewhere.)

Pro-government Chinese dispatches said the Communists, in a swift stab towards Mukden, attacked defense positions only five miles to the north. The Reds, by these accounts, surged towards Mukden after encircling but bypassing Tieling, government bastion 40 miles north east.

Meanwhile, fighting raged in the Manchurian corridor area between the port of Hulutao and Hsinmin, 35 miles west of Mukden.

Private foreign reports said Mukden was not likely to hold out more than a week. American, British and French consulates as yet were remaining in the threatened city.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Democratic National Committee reported today it had collected $1,683,193 through Wednesday and had spent $1,674,760.

The final pre-election financial statement filed with the House clerk also listed $95,000 in loans receivable, and $151,414 in unpaid bills.

Green Says AFL Will Not Support
French Walkout
Tells Lewis Reds
Sponsoring Strike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, told John L. Lewis today that the AFL would neither support nor sympathize with the French coal mine strike.

Green said Communists "are managing and sponsoring the strike."

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, asked Green two days ago to use his influence with President Truman to cut off Marshall Plan funds to France in order to "stop the shooting of French coal miners."

He said American bullets and guns were used by French police against the miners.

But Green, a former coal miner himself, said he would be sympathetic only if the French miners were striking to improve their wages and working conditions.

He said Paul Hoffman, administrator of the European recovery funds, and Boris Shishkin, AFL economist on leave with the ECA in Paris, both reported the strike was Communist-inspired and was aimed at sabotaging the Marshall Plan.

Lewis had addressed his proposal to Green calling Green a supporter of Mr. Truman. The mine leader has bitterly criticized Mr. Truman and made a point of not addressing him directly.

Green sent his reply by messenger to Lewis today. He told a news conference he would not relay Lewis' original request to the White House. The matter is closed now, he said.

Green said he was surprised by Lewis' stand, because he knew the mine chief was not a Communist sympathizer.

But putting the responsibility for shooting French coal miners on President Truman is "unfounded, ridiculous and absurd," Green said.

Tieup's End Believed Near
PARIS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Thousands of heavily-armed French police and soldiers drove pickets from about 20 more struck coal mines today.

They met no important resistance, and there was rising governmental optimism that the 25-day-old tieup is nearing an end.

National Defense Minister Paul Ramadier said the situation may be so well in hand next week that troops can be withdrawn from the coal fields.

However, the Communists had about 30 coal ships tied up in French ports, through a strike of dock workers.

The government announced that "an important number" of passenger trains would be suspended as of November 3 because of the coal shortage.

New Setup Puts Army On Peace Or War Footing

Effective On Nov. 15;
Gen. Collins Named
"Vice Chief Of Staff"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Army Secretary Royall announced tonight a "top-level reorganization of the Army to place that service on a peace-or-war" footing.

He said in a statement that the reorganization is designed to obviate the necessity for a sudden change in event of emergency. It becomes effective November 15.

In the shifting around of responsibilities and assignments, a new office of "vice chief of staff" was created. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, veteran tactician of World War II, was appointed to the job.

Present post is deputy chief of staff under Gen. Omar Bradley.

Royall said Collins would be an "alter ego" (other self) for Bradley and would take over when Bradley is away for field inspections "at home and overseas."

The vice chief also will be the contact man for the Army, to fit its plans in with those of the other armed forces, the Air Force and Navy.

New Setup Explained
In explaining the new setup, Royall said:

"The new organization lies between the Army's organization in World War II and the setup which has been in effect since mid-1946. The pre-1946 establishment placed the Army entirely on a war footing, while the postwar organization has resembled greatly the peacetime organization in effect prior to March of 1942."

During the war, the tremendous procurement (buying) program was handled by the Undersecretary of War. For the last year, procurement has been the responsibility of Assistant Secretary Gordon Gray while the undersecretary, William H. Draper, has given his attention to handling occupation problems of the Army. Under the new plan, the secretary may give the assignment either to the assistant or undersecretary.

Technical Services Grouped
Other administrative changes is the grouping of seven technical services—such as the Chemical, Signal and Medical Corps—under the director or logistics instead of under different commands.

A new position of deputy for administration will be filled by Lt. Gen. Wade H. Halslip, present special assistant to the chief of staff.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, present general staff director of plans and operations (the man directly responsible for the preparation and constant revision of war plans) will continue the same work under a new title, "deputy for plans and combat operations."

The Army is in the process of building its ranks up to the 387,000-man total authorized by Congress (plus 161,000 18-year-old volunteers who will not be sent out of the country). Its present strength is about 338,000.

ERROR WHICH MIGHT HAVE KEPT TRUMAN OFF
MICH. BALLOT IS FOUND

DETROIT, Oct. 29 (AP)—A technical error threatened for a time today to keep President Truman's name off Michigan ballots Tuesday.

Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., disclosed that the Democratic Party has not yet filed a certified list of its 19 presidential electors which under law must be filed 25 days before election.

Officers of the State Democratic Central Committee immediately took steps to comply with the law and Alger said he would keep his office in the capitol in Lansing open tomorrow to accept the list.

But General Attorney Peter E. Braed ruled that the list should be accepted if it is received before election day. He pointed out, however, that there is a remote possibility some citizen might file a civil court action if President Truman carries Michigan.

Word of the failure to file the presidential electors threw a scare into Democratic circles.

65.17 Per Cent Of Newspapers Backing Dewey

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican nominee, has the support of 771 newspapers or 65.17 per cent of the nation's dailies in his bid for the presidency, Editor and Publisher said today.

The trade publication's findings, based on a recently-completed poll, include these results:

President Truman has the support of 182 papers or 15.38 per cent of the dailies. These represent 10.03 per cent of the country's total circulation. The newspapers backing Dewey have 78.55 of the total circulation.

Surveys Become Political Factor Late In Campaign

First Injected Into
Race By President

(By The Associated Press)

Presidential polls became a political factor in the last week of the election campaign.

They were first injected into the race by President Truman last Tuesday night in a speech at Cleveland.

The President, declaring the Republicans were "poll happy" because many surveys showed them leading, denounced the polls as "sleeping pills designed to lull the voters into sleeping on election day. You might call them sleeping pills."

Following upon the President's remarks, Sen. J. Howard McGrath, Democrat, National Chairman, Thursday night urged Poll Taker Dr. George Gallup to "properly adjust" his election surveys "so that the voters may know the truth."

He said in a telegram to Gallup that an advantage for Mr. Truman instead of Mr. Dewey would be shown if the Gallup poll results were adjusted in line with percentage errors in the two previous presidential campaigns.

Answer "Will Come Tuesday"
Gallup's reply was "We call shots as we see them. The only answer to Mr. McGrath will come on Tuesday."

The Gallup poll's semifinal roundup of the nation, made public today, showed Gov. Dewey leading Mr. Truman in 31 states, with substantial lead in 19. The survey's results indicated the President is leading comfortably in 10 states and to a lesser extent in four others.

On September 29, Fortune magazine, in its last pre-election survey, said Gov. Dewey was leading President Truman by a substantial, unbeatable margin of 44 per cent to 31 per cent. The poll was conducted by Elmo Roper.

Fortune magazine said the figures were so decisive it planned no further detailed reports on the change of opinion about the presidential campaign.

Following are the results of latest newspaper polls in the presidential race, showing the candidate which each newspaper is supporting:

Dewey, At End Of Trail, Talks In N. Y. Tonight

Republican Nominee
Says Administration
"Foot Is Slipping"

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Republican Presidential Nominee Thomas E. Dewey came to the end of a 16,000-mile campaign trail today—still firing away at the Truman administration.

"Its foot is slipping with increasing regularity," the New York Governor declared.

Dewey arrived here at 5:35 p. m., (EST) after barnstorming through Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

The GOP candidate has one more major address scheduled tomorrow night in Manhattan's Madison Square Garden. But his traveling in quest of votes ended when the Dewey "Victory Special" train rolled into Grand Central Station.

A big crowd was on hand to greet him as he and Mrs. Dewey made their way through the concourse from the depot to the Hotel Roosevelt.

Earlier, Dewey and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., praised each other and promised harmony between the White House and Congress if the Republicans win next Tuesday's election.

"Tragic Concessions"
They did that before a cheering crowd of 10,000 persons in Martin's home town, North Attleboro, Mass. Then, in New Haven, Conn., Dewey got off his remark about the Truman administration's foot slipping.

He told a police-estimated crowd of 10,000 persons there the Democrats have made "tragic concessions" in foreign policy and added:

"You can't buy peace by giving away other people's freedom." Addressing Yale students in the New Haven crowd, Dewey touted a government career in civil service. He said he hoped to make such jobs more attractive by raising the pay.

Another way to serve the country, he said, is to go into politics. "But I suggest you get yourself in a position to earn a living before you do that," Dewey commented.

He said politics is "drudgery" and "the hardest labor in the United States."

Yell Mystifies Dewey
At one point someone in the crowd shouted: "Three times three for Truman."

Dewey had trouble understanding the shout and asked that it be repeated. A bystander explained it was a Yale yell.

At his last rear platform appearance of the campaign, in Bridgeport, Conn., Dewey told a train-side crowd which police figured at 10,000 persons:

"I have no use for anyone who goes around the country blackguarding the Congress of the United States."

In Providence, R. I., the New York Governor told a police-estimated crowd of 35,000 persons in that Democratic stronghold he is confident the Republicans still will control the Senate and House after next Tuesday's election.

USSR Threatens
Wagers Of Atom
War With Death

PARIS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Russia warned today she would consider the waging of "new methods of warfare" an international crime punishable by death.

Soviet Delegate Alexei Pavlov did not mention the atom bomb or new types of fighting such as germ warfare by name in his discussion before the United Nations Social Committee. However, he clearly indicated Russia would regard any future use of the atom bomb as an international crime on a level with the atrocities committed by Nazi Germany.

The trials of top Nazi leaders at Nuremberg established a precedent for punishing and executing "criminals who wage war with new methods of destruction," he said.

GOP Rates Its Far West Prospects Best In 16 Years

Republican Sweep In Oregon Is Predicted

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Republicans rate their election prospects in the Far West as the brightest in 16 years despite a continuing Democratic edge in voter registration.

An all-time high of approximately 7,000,000 voters—of which 5,000,000 were in California—were eligible to ballot Tuesday in the coast states of California, Oregon and Washington.

A GOP sweep appeared to be in the making in heavily Republican Oregon, with Republicans foreseeing a complete reversal this year of the 1936 Democratic landslide.

In California, the Republican congressional majority appeared to be safe in the only state races of national importance.

In both California and Washington—where Democrats still outnumbered Republicans on the registration and primary lists—the GOP was counting on California's Gov. Earl Warren, the Republican vice presidential nominee, to win the electoral vote on the strength of his great personal popularity.

One Senate Seat At Stake

The only Senate seat to come up in the three coast states this year is that of GOP Sen. Guy Gordon, of Oregon. He was expected to win reelection without trouble over Democrat Manley Wilson, editor of the International Woodworker, editorial organ of the CIO International Woodworkers of America.

Oregon will elect a Governor. Republican Gov. Earl Snell and the two officials next in line of succession were killed in an airplane accident last winter. Speaker of the House John Hall was elevated to the Governor's office but was beaten in the primaries by State Sen. Douglas McKay, Salem Republican. His Democratic opponent in the general election is State Sen. Lew Wallace, Portland.

Wallace, former Democratic National Committee member, was defeated for the governorship by Snell in 1942. A third candidate is Farm Union Official Wendell E. Barnett, Salem. He is running as an independent.

Washington's major contest was between Democratic Gov. Mon Wallgren and former Gov. Arthur B. Langlie—a nip-and-tuck rematch of the 1944 contest in which Wallgren won.

Wallace Party Influence Wanes
As the 1948 campaign neared its close, there also appeared to be a marked downward revision of Henry Wallace's third party influence on the election outcome.

Most informed political opinion agreed the Wallace vote would be much less than anticipated six months ago. Unbiased estimates placed it between three and five per cent for all three coast states, with California turning in a probable top of around 300,000.

In California, source of most of the third party's western strength, the Progressive Party had almost ceased to be a factor in the once importantly-regarded congressional contests.

Here, where Democratic registration exceeds Republican by 2,892,270 to 1,508,208, the Progressives had virtually pulled out of contested congressional districts in a "liberal alliance" with Democrats.

Although third party candidates still were on the ballot in 14 of California's 23 districts, in only two were they actively opposing Democrats. These were the 18th and 21st Districts, in which the Democratic candidates are former Rep. Clyde Doyle, Long Beach, and Rep. Harry R. Sheppard, Yucca.

Patterson Will Trial Delayed; Old Wills Filed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Trial of the Eleanor Patterson will contest case was delayed a possible three months today with the filing of seven old wills and two old codicils.

The last known will of the late publisher of the Washington Times-Herald was written in 1946, and leaves the newspaper to seven employees. It gives her daughter, Mrs. Felicia Gryzka, certain property and $25,000 a year.

Mrs. Gryzka is trying to break the will on the grounds her mother was unduly influenced, and was of unsound mind when she signed it.

Texas Rancher Wins Hero Award

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29. (AP)—A Texas rancher's rescue of a child and aid to others trapped in a howling blizzard today won the highest award among 24 Carnegie Hero Fund recipients in 17 states.

Sam Wohlford, 57, Stratford, Tex., will get the hero commission's silver medal for rescuing Kenneth R. Reynolds, 15 months old, during the storm last February 11. He also aided other victims, including an expectant mother.

Three members of the rescued child's family perished of exposure, despite Wohlford's efforts.

The silver medal was the only one awarded at today's meeting of the commission. Twenty-three other heroes, including three more Texans, got bronze medals. Four of the 23 lost their lives in performance of the acts for which they were cited.

Wohlford's heroism occurred after the Reynolds family was stranded overnight in a partly-open truck on a country road during a blizzard. In the morning, Kenneth Reynolds' father fought his way three miles through snowdrifts to Wohlford's home.

Wohlford built a tarpaulin-covered platform on a tractor. He rescued Kenneth, his brother, sister and grandmother from the truck. He took them to an unoccupied dwelling nearby, bucking drifts all the way. Fearing the badly-exposed victims would die without medical attention, Wohlford struck out again for aid.

His tractor stalled and after losing his way, Wohlford reached a neighbor's house. The neighbor's wife, an expectant mother, developed pains. Wohlford fought his way on foot to obtain aid for her from a woman relative two miles away. Then Wohlford and a fellow rancher took to a truck to rescue the Reynolds family.

After detouring 19 miles because of heavy drifts, the pair reached a plant entrance where Wohlford obtained an ambulance which he guided to the Reynolds. The brother, sister and grandmother had died. Kenneth and his father suffered frostbite.

Hagerstown Residents Defend Homes Against Pranksters With Hoses

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 29. (AP)—The aroused citizenry of Hagerstown were defending their homes against Halloween "pranksters" tonight with spouting garden hoses after a wave of vandalism in which automobile tires were punctured, manhole covers were removed, out-houses were upset, trees and shrubbery were cut down, and a partially completed Washington County road was torn up with the county's own grading equipment.

Nine teen-age youths hauled before Magistrate Harry M. Miller on vandalism charges received a harsh tongue-lashing and $1 fines.

All Greece Is Placed Under Martial Law

ATHENS, Oct. 29. (AP)—All Greece was placed under martial law today through a decree signed by King Paul I.

The step was taken to strengthen the government in its campaign against the Communist guerrillas.

Athens and a portion of the country extending north to Lamia have been under martial law for many months. Earlier this week the Peloponnese was added.

Under the decree, all violators of public order, especially the Communists may be tried by military tribunals.

McGrath Charges Paper Refused Democratic Ad

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Sen. J. Howard McGrath, Democratic National Chairman, said today the New York World Telegram had refused to print a Democratic advertisement about Thomas E. Dewey's record as Governor.

McGrath said the Democrats "turned to print advertising because almost every newspaper in America has refused to print statements and speeches by Democratic leaders in which Gov. Dewey is criticized."

Chic Club Plans Dance
The Chic Club will celebrate Halloween with a grand dance tomorrow night in SS. Peter and Paul parish hall. The Collegians will play for the dancing from 8:30 until 11:30. Decorations will carry out the Halloween theme and cider is to be served.

Mothers of the girls, Father Alban, moderator, and Father Antonine, assistant moderator, will be the chaperons.

Farmer Kissing Prefers Wife's Kisses To Dog's

SAN FERNANDO, Calif., Oct. 29. (AP)—Dairy Farmer Ernest Kissing prefers to be kissed by his wife instead of their collie dog.

Mrs. Kissing is suing him for divorce. His lawyer said yesterday in Superior Court the couple might reconcile if the dog were kept from licking his face while he sleeps. Kissing said his wife kept the dog in their bedroom.

Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle ordered the Kissings to kiss and make up and restrained Mrs. Kissing from having the dog in the bedroom.

Clerics Protest Nazis' Execution

MUNICH, Germany, Oct. 29. (AP)—Despite protests by German churchmen the United States Army went ahead today with the execution of Nazi convicted of war atrocities.

Nine men were sent to the gallows at Landsberg Prison this morning. This brought to 29 the number of Germans executed at the prison since the middle of the month.

Groups of nine or 10 have been executed on three successive Fridays. Four of those hanged today shot unarmed American fliers who had parachuted out of damaged planes. The other five had tortured concentration camp inmates to death.

A tenth man won a last minute stay of execution.

German church leaders have criticized United States war crimes trial methods and have asked a halt in the executions pending re-examination of every case.

The latest protest came last night from Dr. Theophil Wurm, Evangelical Church bishop. He told a news conference in Stuttgart an appeals court should be set up for war crimes cases. Earlier Wurm had joined Catholic Bishop Johannes Neuhäusler of Munich in appealing to high American officials for a halt in the executions.

Army headquarters in Frankfurt said last night that Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Military Governor had rejected the request to suspend the executions.

State's Public School Enrollment Is 194,998

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29. (AP)—Maryland's public school enrollment jumped from 183,703 to 194,998 during the past year, Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state schools superintendent, reported today.

And more than 75 per cent of this gain occurred in four counties—Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince Georges.

Dr. Pullen said enrollment estimates push the figure up 18,000 next year and another 17,000 the year after.

Hoffman Sees French Coal Strike As Reds' Final Try At Blocking ERP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Paul G. Hoffman said today the "Moscow-directed" French coal strike may be Russia's last big try at preventing European recovery.

From now on Communist ability to halt recovery will wane, the Economic Co-operation Administrator told reporters on his return from Europe.

He recommended that the United States take advantage of this "reversed trend" by spending the entire $5,055,000,000 European recovery appropriation in 12 months instead of 15.

The ECA also announced approval of $14,923,898 Marshall Plan shipments to Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Italy, Ireland, France, the Netherlands and China. This brought the total of ECA grants to date to $2,519,765,454.

Hoffman said Russia will continue its attempts to hamper recovery, but he said the French coal strike is its "last determined effort."

He said the trend has reversed and is now against Russia.

"There is no country in Europe where there is a free vote in which the Communists have not lost ground."

Hoffman said he did not want to give the impression that everything was wonderful in Europe, but he reported that "in certain nations there has been notable progress in industry, finances and agriculture."

His proposal to spend the entire ERP appropriation in one year has been hinted before. He made it official today, by saying he would ask President Truman's permission.

By spending heavily now to turn the tide toward recovery, Hoffman predicted the United States would be able to spend less during the next fiscal year (July 1, 1949 to July 1, 1950).

"Reports from all ECA missions in all countries show that they are making good on their pledges of self help and mutual aid," he said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Invisible Glasses

Contact lenses were not designed to replace ordinary spectacles and they should never be purchased, therefore, unless advised by a competent authority. The device is ingenious, consisting of a curved shell of transparent glass or plastic which fits over the eyeball. The lens is separated from the surface by a thin layer of fluid to minimize irritation. The outer rim is supported by the lids and the central part covers the pupil and is of varied thickness, depending upon the correction needed for good sight.

Originally, the gadget was made from glass but during the past ten years, a plastic substitute has become more popular, especially in the United States. This substance is unbreakable and non-shatterable, and so transparent that it is difficult to photograph. It is 40 per cent lighter in weight than glass and is not affected by water, salt, or any of the body secretions.

Fitting is difficult and when not done properly, the owner is likely to be disappointed and dissatisfied. The procedure calls for the preparation of a mold of the eye from which a casting is made; or several hundred lenses are tried until a pair is found that is satisfactory.

The lenses are most useful in controlling certain types of astigmatism and disturbances of the cornea (the clear part over the opening of the eye) and in those who are extremely nearsighted (myopic). Such individuals have a wider range of vision with lenses of this type than by looking through a great thickness of glass, as ordinarily required when spectacles are worn. Persons who have had cataracts removed may substitute them for the strong glasses some are compelled to wear. They are helpful also as a protective device for athletes including boxers, baseball players, swimmers, ski jumpers, etc. who cannot afford to endanger their eyes with regular glasses. Their cosmetic value is important and many actors, actresses, musicians, and lecturers would be at a loss without them.

But disadvantages exist which, unless corrected, means that they will never be as popular as our modern glasses. They are not as comfortable and, after being worn for several hours, irritate the outer membranes of the eyes, causing them to swell. When this occurs, vision becomes hazy and lights seem to be surrounded by colored halos. At first these changes come on after an hour or two but with continued wearing, tolerance may be increased to from four to eight hours. After symptoms appear, they must be removed and cannot be reinserted until swelling goes down, which generally takes about thirty minutes.

Contact lenses are extremely durable and last from five to eight years. At this time a change is usually necessary because a new correction is needed. With growing children a new set is required more frequently.

Tissue Examination

In this procedure, a small portion of the suspected tissue is removed and sent to the laboratory for microscopic study. The test is used to diagnose not only cancer but other maladies.

Good For You
Mrs. E.D. writes: I have just passed my 80th milestone. I was married at 18 and became the mother of five sons. I was never seriously sick until the age of 74, when I fell ill and was at death's door. I had my house in order, ready to depart to the great beyond. I survived and was disappointed that the good Lord let me live. Then I met up with an awful calamity. I weathered it and came out on top so I decided to earn my living and try to help some one who is unable to help himself. I prayed to be directed to a home where I would be needed and was successful. Today I am still there giving service and my health is perfect. I hope other aged folks will attempt to help some afflicted human beings instead of just sitting at home wiggling their thumbs.

REPLY
You have the right idea and I hope your letter will inspire others to go and do likewise.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Don't make any mistake about Stalin doing business after election day. He isn't going to raise the Iron Curtain high enough to crack a paper-shell pecan.

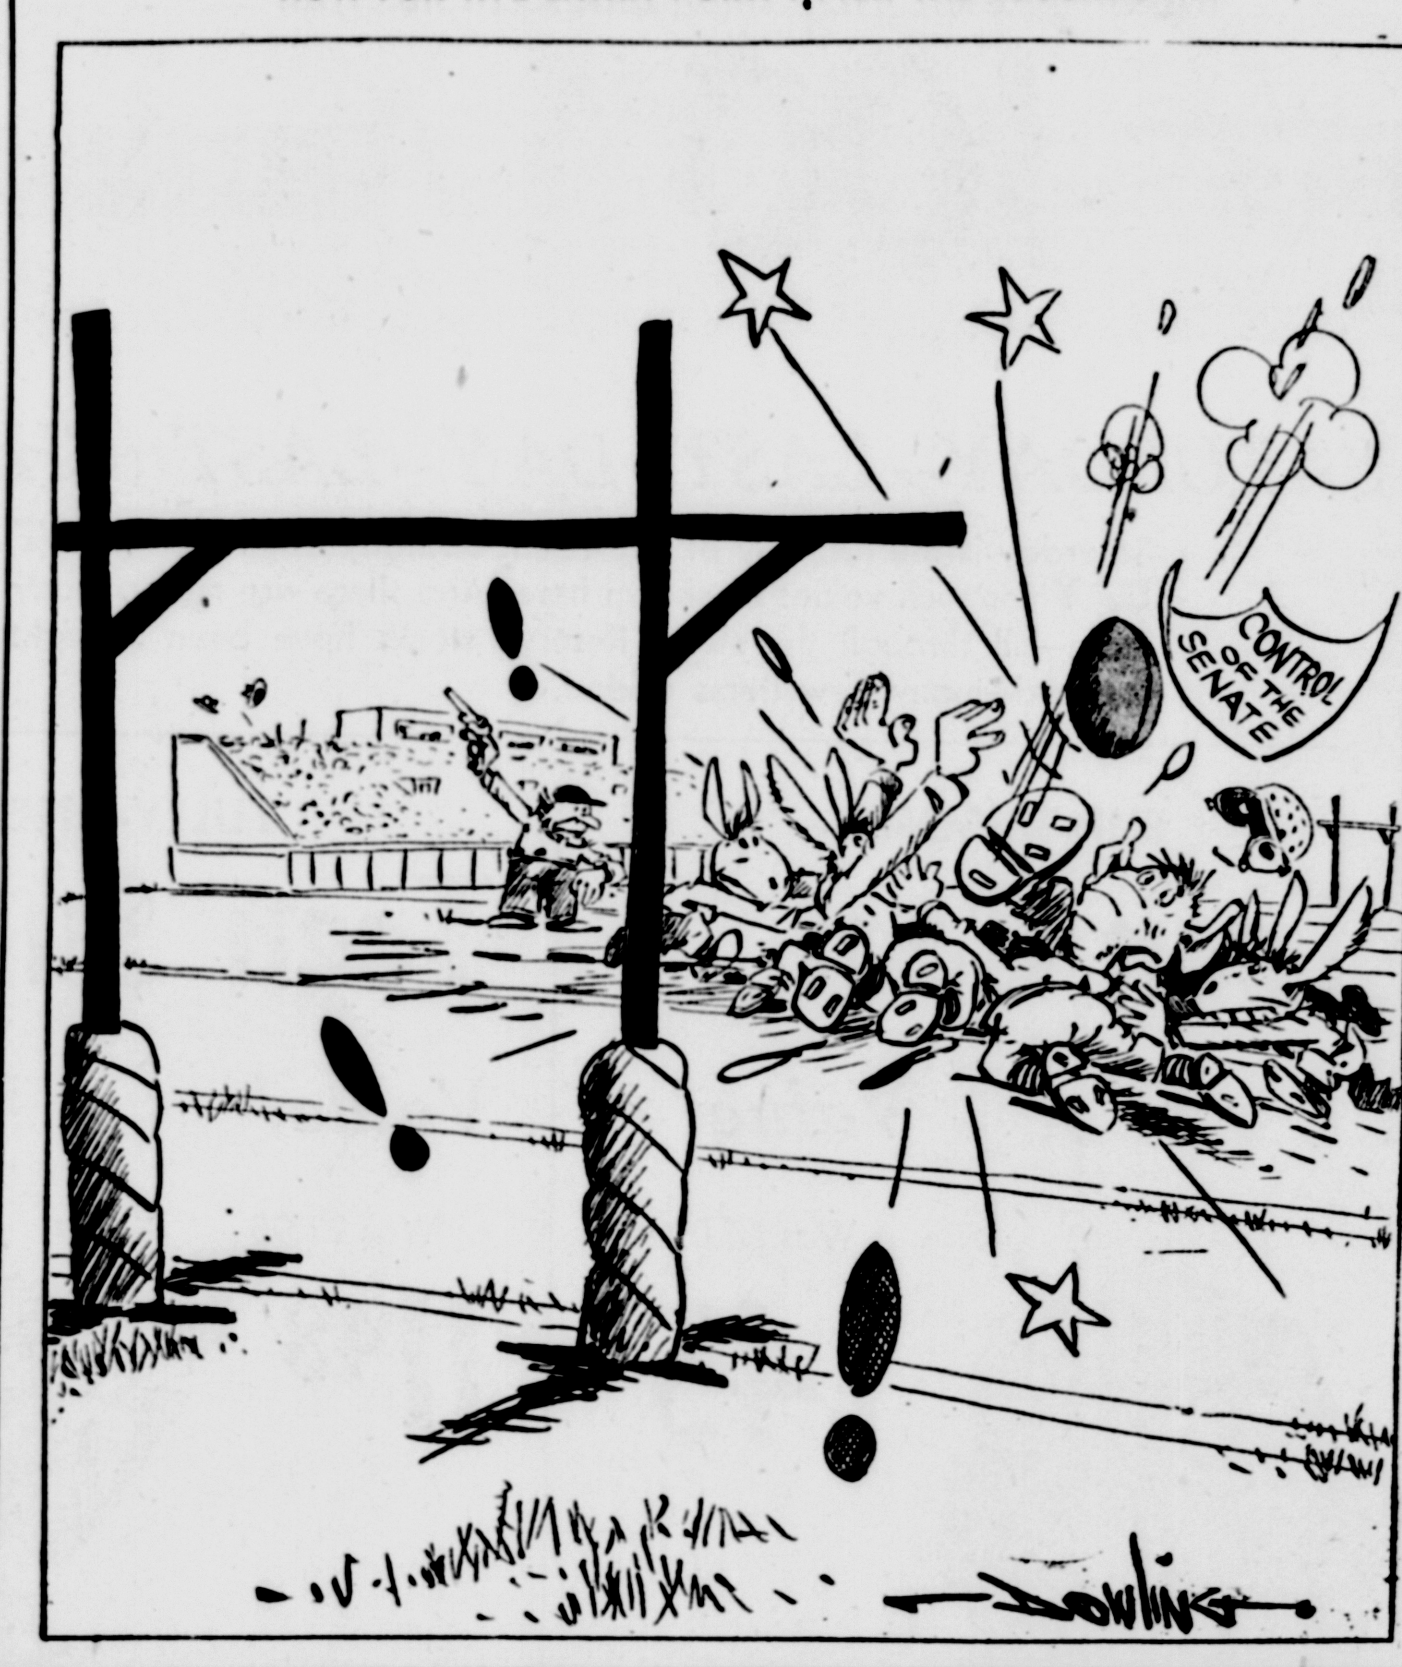

He is throwing a bigger bluff than a confidence man without socks. There isn't a thing behind that riveted facade that couldn't be left out in the rain all night.

So no matter who wins Tuesday old Uncle Joe will continue to obstruct his own traffic by running his motor with his rear wheels jammed up.

And to those pessimists who think Stalin is marking time, I say he is only rocking on his heels.

Much Between Lines In Deranian's Blast Against Bob Kerr For Spending Too Much Money In Oklahoma Senatorial Race

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—Keeping the record-straight-department—The other day, in Oklahoma, P. Nelson Deranian, counsel for the Senate election subcommittee, let loose a blast against ex-Governor Bob Kerr, running as a Democrat for Senator, on the ground that he spent too much money in his primary. That Bob Kerr spent a fistful of money in probably correct. However, to keep the record straight, let's look at some things on the other side of the picture.

First, millionaire oilman Ed Moore, Republican, whose place Kerr is seeking, spent a young fortune getting elected in 1942. Second, Mr. Deranian, together with Senator Jenner of Indiana, chairman of the election subcommittee, are not in a strong position to criticize others.

Deranian, by a strange quirk, happens to be the law partner of Robert W. Lyons, big-time Washington lobbyist, and ex-secretary of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan. But perhaps, when you examine the facts carefully, the quirk isn't so strange after all. For Lyons is really the man who put William E. Jenner in the Senate. And Deranian is now Lyons' Man-Friday inside Jenner's committee.

Political Ambitions Thwarted
Lyons has always nursed political ambitions in Indiana, but always has been thwarted. In 1944 he was actually elected chairman of the Indiana Republican State Committee, but news of his election caused so many people to hold their noses that he was ousted. What makes Indiana voters hold their noses about Lyons is first, his connection with the Ku Klux Klan at a time when the Klan was in its goriest heyday, and when Klegale Stevenson was convicted of murder; second, Lyons' $300,000 lobbying fees for the chain stores.

The record of Lyons' chain-store operations is all a matter of official Congressional Record for any newspaperman to dig out, and it makes highly interesting reading. The folks back in Indiana are reasonably familiar with it, so much so that Lyons can never get anywhere with his political ambitions.

However, that hasn't prevented Lyons from putting his own man in the Senate, namely, William E. Jenner, elected in 1946 with the backstage backing of Lyons and the big Indiana beer interests. In fact, some interesting reports were published back in Indiana about Jenner's own campaign contributions at the time of his election. But, when the Republicans took over control of the Senate in 1946, no investigation was ever made of Jenner's campaign funds.

On the contrary, Jenner was placed on a committee to investigate other people's elections, and is now chairman of its chief subcommittee. As such, the gentleman from Indiana conducted one of the fairest probes in recent Senate history—that regarding the 1946 election of West Virginia's Democratic Harley Kilgore. The chief graft unearthed in West Virginia was upon the part of the brother of the Republican national committeeman, Walter S. Hallinan, who was indicted for stealing votes. Despite graft on the part of the Republicans, Jenner kept the probe of Democratic Kilgore's election up in the air for two full years.

If ex-Governor Kerr has spent a lot of money in Oklahoma, it should be investigated—but by an impartial committee, not one whose record and whose backstage wire pullers cannot stand the clear light of day.

Barkonian Humor
Even if Alben Barkley isn't elected vice president, he still will have a lot of pleasant memories of this campaign.

Talking long-distance from Huntington, West Virginia to Les Biffle, director of the Senate Democratic policy committee, Barkley reported: "I've been doing a lot of flying—and my face red!"

"What from—the wind?" inquired Biffle.

"No, from being kissed by all those pretty girls here in West Virginia."

Wrong Name For Good Friend
Republican Congressman John McDowell of Pennsylvania is one member of the un-American Activities Committee who does not believe in "kickbacks." However, a bit jittery about his own re-election chances, he had a talk with James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO and right bower to CIO Boss Phil Murray.

"You know," said McDowell, "I'm really not hostile to your organization. And I want you to be sure and tell your president, Mr. Philip Murphy, that I said so. He's an old friend of mine. Be sure and give Mr. Murphy my regards."

Bankers Increase Rates
The bankers have decided not to wait for the Republicans to move into the Treasury Department.

Already the American Bankers Association is engaged in a significant tussle with the Commodity Credit Corporation over raising interest rates.

At present the interest on cotton, wheat and corn loans is 3 per cent, which is split between the CCC and private banks, each getting 1½ per cent. However, the A.B.A. has demanded that the banks' share be raised to 2 per cent, on the ground that the present return isn't enough to pay service costs of loans. Also, the bankers' group contends that the new federal reserve restrictions on bank reserves have decreased the amount of money available for lending, so it's unfair, therefore, to expect banks to continue crop loans on such a small margin of return.

These weighty arguments, however, so far have produced only stifled yawns at the CCC. The agency has politely reminded the A.B.A. that, while banks make the crop loans, the government takes all the risk because the loans are insured 100 per cent by the taxpayers. Second, the CCC has some convincing figures showing that bank-service costs are more than offset by the increased volume of crop loans; also, that the increased size of individual loans has substantially reduced the over-all service costs. Third, says the CCC, the middle of the 1948 crop loaning season is no time to reshuffle interest rates. So it looks as if the bankers would lose out, at least until next January.

Many Of Charges Hurlled By Truman Have Been Grotesque

By MARK SULLIVAN

For President Truman as he balances the books next Monday, the question is, has he by his campaign improved his chances for election?

That his prospect was bad at the beginning was a glaring fact. Preceding his nomination at the Democratic National Convention last July, leader after leader of his party declared publicly that he ought not to be nominated and gave as the reason that he could not be elected. An important segment of his following, Americans for Democratic Action, issued a formal statement saying, "There is so little public enthusiasm for the Truman Administration that the Democratic Party would face a very difficult uphill fight if he were nominated."

Old-guard Democratic leader, Frank Hague, of Jersey City, put it even more broadly and starkly: "Every leader I conferred with has informed me that if President Truman is the candidate it means a landslide on the Republican side."

Taft's Situation Recalled
To find a President seeking nomination for another term with so much opposition within his party, it would be necessary to go back to Republican President Taft in 1912. Taft got the nomination he sought, as any President in office can, and so did Mr. Truman. But the Taft nomination resulted in a formidable split, with a new party set-up under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt, and Taft was overwhelmingly beaten. The present split-offs from the Democratic Party—the States' Rights "Dixiecrat" Party, with Governor Thurmond of South Carolina as its candidate for President, and the Henry A. Wallace Progressive Party—are less formidable than the defection of Theodore Roosevelt and the old Progressive Party in 1912. But the present split-offs are almost enough of themselves to defeat Mr. Truman.

Probably it was the opposition to his nomination, coupled with desperation about his chance of election, upon which the opposition was based, that he caused the extraordinary color Mr. Truman's campaign speeches have had. To those who have known Mr. Truman in the past, irritation did not seem one of his traits. But irritation, resentment, anger, have been the prevailing spirit of his campaign speeches. Along with this emotion, and perhaps caused by it, have gone qualities of his campaign speeches which give justification to a summary in the New York Herald Tribune: "The President has seemed ready to make any bid, no matter how extreme or desperate, which may win him mass support." Worse than Mr. Truman's appeals for votes for himself was "a sinister use of suggestion and innuendo" to foment ill-feeling against his opponents.

Much of it was so trivial or far-fetched as to be grotesque. To take advantage of the rhyme of "Dewey" with "hokey" was hardly lofty in the present state of the world. In his Cleveland speech he used a pun that was not only doubtful humor but doubtful fact. Speaking of polls that show an overwhelming Republican trend, Mr. Truman said: "These polls are like sleeping pills designed to lull the voters into sleeping on election day, you might call them sleeping pills."

Some Truman Charges Grotesque
Some of Mr. Truman's charges have been grotesque not only in themselves but in their contradictoriness. To imply in one speech that the Republican Party is Fascist, and in another that the Communists want Mr. Dewey to win, calls for more fervid investigation of thought than most voters would be capable of or willing to be guilty of.

For that sort of thing Mr. Dewey had a comment. When a Republican Party worker in an Indiana town told Mr. Dewey that Mr. Truman had been there and had been "lambasting" him, Dewey grinned and said: "Well, nobody believes that stuff anyway." Mr. Dewey in his speeches was rarely harsh. Conspicuously he conducted his campaign in a spirit other than personal attack. Especially did he not flip up the past. One who has read Mr. Dewey's speeches carefully cannot recall any direct allusion to the New Deal or Franklin Roosevelt specifically. The contrast between Mr. Dewey and Mr. Truman and their representative campaigns is suggested by Mr. Truman's mention of ex-President Hoover fourteen times, each time jeeringly, in one speech.

Lightning rods protect buildings only when the connections to the ground are good.

One-third of the population of the United States is said to suffer from hunger, from lack of nutrition.

Stalin's Interview Shows No Near Crisis Leading To War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—Whatever else may be read into the interview given by Premier Stalin to an official newspaper in Moscow, certainly there is no sign of an imminent crisis leading to war.

To this extent the Stalin comments confirm what has been said here for many weeks even as the tension of the Berlin Blockade has been increased—that the controversy has not reached the point where its sequel is inevitable war. Deadlock and prolonged tension are the alternatives, rather than war.

The reasons why the Russian Government chose to issue its statement now disclaiming any responsibility for making war are doubtless related to a belief that propaganda accusing the Western world of warlike purposes will offset the damaging effect of the vote in the United Nations Security Council. The sensitiveness of the Russians is such that Stalin speaks of the "guaranteed majority" of the western powers in the Council, which is but another way of endeavoring to cry that the jury was rigged in advance.

Hopes To Aid Wallace

It can no longer be doubted that the Soviets are aware of the consequences throughout the world of their obstinate attitude at Paris. Just why the statement was issued at this time will be the subject of speculation among the political campaign managers. Any idea that Stalin has any preference as between Truman and Dewey is absurd, but there is no doubt that he hopes to aid the cause of Henry Wallace by pointing out to the voters of America that Russia is bent on peace and that the American Government is opposed to such a course and really wants war.

This makes all the more necessary an examination of the record of American diplomacy. It is apparent that Stalin was quick to seize the opening left in the way the Western diplomats bungled the mediation proposals initiated by the six "neutral" countries. When Stalin says there was an "agreement" in the hands of the Argentine foreign minister who acted as mediator, he means, of course, that the Argentine had a document to which Russia was willing to agree but which the Western powers rejected.

The news dispatches from Paris told of that document a few days ago. It was a proposal for simultaneous withdrawal of the blockade and the making of an agreement over currency in Berlin. The Western powers refused this on the theory that the blockade must be lifted first or else they would be negotiating under duress.

Negotiations Under Duress
From the standpoint of the record, this was a mistake. The Western powers could have limited the discussions on the details of the currency problem to 10 days and could have insisted that at the end of the 10-day period the blockade must be removed. This extra 10 days would not have hurt the Allies' position. Their claim that they would have been negotiating "under duress" does not sound realistic, in view of the fact that negotiations under duress have been proceeding ever since last summer and the Argentine mediator conducted his negotiations under the same duress. A few days more or less are not relevant when matters of such importance are at stake.

There are many people who insist that it is of no avail to make any agreements with the Russians because they will not fulfill them. Such theory leads only to the tragic conclusion that war must settle differences and that patience and reason and the making of a point-by-point record is of no use.

History shows that, while the American people can be brought to the verge of war by impassioned statements, they prefer to have a record made which can be accepted by all elements of the country as irrefutable. While there are people who are quite certain that Russia wants war and will never keep any agreements and believe that hence war is inevitable, the bare chance exists that such views may be wrong. It could be that the Russians are really bargainers, and are really bluffing. There is also the possibility that if one party makes up its mind that only physical force can bring the others to terms, the circumstances of pride and nationalistic feeling are such that agreement becomes impossible and war does become inevitable as to both sides.

Stalin is making the most of his propaganda opportunities. While all this is irritating, common sense argues that diplomacy in Paris must not permit any flaws in the record. Informal efforts to revise the alleged agreement which the Argentine minister had might well ensue now. The Allies' move is to ask for copies of that agreement and resume the parleys at that point. Nothing is lost by patient exploration of the issue on both sides and an exposure of the fallacies in an opponent's argument.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Heroes Of Congress

WHENEVER the Daily Worker is for someone, it is sound to take note. For the Daily Worker supports Soviet Russia and the Soviet Russian position against the United States. Anyone that Soviet Russia favors, I, for one, will not vote for—unless by his subsequent conduct he proves that he has repudiated the association and brought distress to his sponsors. A lot of old-fashioned left-wingers have suddenly discovered that it is wise to have a change of heart, but the test is not lip-service; it is a complete and total denunciation of the Communists and all their works.

On July 28, 1947, the Daily Worker published an article from Washington, written by Rob Hall, on the subject of the 80th Congress. The heroes, from the Communist standpoint, of that Congress are listed in that article. Here is the exact wording:

"The heroes of the 80th Congress are few. They include a dozen Senators led by Pepper of Florida, Taft of Ohio and Murray of Montana. One of their number is a Republican, Morse of Oregon. In the House, progressives were even more hopelessly outnumbered, but there, too, a few fought for the policies of Roosevelt. Chief among them were Marcanonio, Powell, Klein and Celler of New York, Douglas and Hoffield of California, and Eberhart of Pennsylvania."

I do not believe, that the Daily Worker will continue to list Senator Morse as one of its heroes. As for the rest, I am sure that they have not lost their popularity. I have seen no evidence of such a change of heart in the Daily Worker. In fact, it continues to heroize these worthy subjects.

Senator Pepper did courageously refuse to run for Vice President on the Wallace ticket. He preferred to remain a Democrat. Of course, had he walked out of the Democratic Party, he might have been out of the Senate in due course. However, he did not take the risk of being elected Vice President on the Wallace ticket. He left that to Senator Glen Taylor, who made the valiant sacrifice. At first Senator Taylor was almost the equal of Wallace himself, but in recent weeks he seems to have wandered off the front pages.

Senator Murray of Montana, who is running for re-election this year, is undoubtedly embarrassed by glorification in the Daily Worker in the year 1948, but as an ardent New Dealer, he surely planned it that way and if his plans were carried out, that is his fault and will undoubtedly result in repudiation at the polls by Montanans who want none of Stalin's praise directly or indirectly. Possibly Senator Murray does not object to being a Daily Worker hero in New York as long as it is kept quiet in Montana.

The test of Congressional worthiness, according to the Daily Worker, is the relationship of these heroes to Communists, for this is what Rob Hall says:

"It was a session of scurrilous red-baiting which was not confined to the House Un-American Committee. Because some dared to oppose the violation of Constitutional rights by this latter group, they were sentenced to jail..."

In a word, a member of Congress becomes a Communist hero when he does not engage in activities which they call red-baiting but which may only be praised. It is an excellent test if done in reverse. That is, if they are for anyone, the rest of us ought to be against him. That is sound practice.

Here in New York, the citizens are faced by similar heroes: Vito Marcantonio, Leo Pressman, Leo Isaacson and Paul O'Dwyer. Of these, Paul O'Dwyer has never quite been declared a hero, but the others are in the highest brackets. Their election would be detrimental to the United States and will reflect upon the people who live in the Congressional districts. It will give to the whole American people the impression that there are Communist sections in New York as there are Communist suburbs in Paris. That is a bad situation for this city, just as Florida, Montana and Idaho are bound to be worried about their heroes.

This is a good time for all Americans to come to the aid of their country.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Why Get "Het" Up?

I wonder if we realize how much of time, energy and of life itself are burned up uselessly by anger and quarrels. We know that the human body rebels at anger and suffers because of it. An entire day may be poisoned by a single bitter argument. Why, then, get all "het" up?

Poise and stillness, under abuse and assault, are things that few know how to combat. You see, it always takes more than one to stir up a heated argument, or to initiate a quarrel. But if only one partakes, the flame of the quarrel will soon die out.

Most quarrels and disputes are caused by misunderstandings. As soon as these are calmly discussed, and the misunderstanding swept away, the trouble is over. Fairness and justice are as welcome by one side as another. They are the chief ingredients for all happy settlements.

All wars start from a quarrel—and from one that should be settled in friendly fashion before any blows are struck! It is impossible to estimate the damage and cost of any war. Neither is it possible to fully estimate the damage to one's mind and body caused by violent anger or a bitter quarrel.

With so much beauty in the world, with so much all about us to interest and engage our mind and hands, and with more to be done than any of us can ever realize, why not remain calm and let go of all disputing and quarreling? Why get "het" up?

It seems to me that the greatest natural medicine is that which all nature furnishes—in its magic expanse. I have read of the lives and studied the books of those who have devoted their time and effort to the study of nature, and in all instances you read of men who lead calm and fascinating lives. They are so filled with the wonder of nature that they have no time to devote to misunderstanding and bitterness. They see a heaven, here and now, in all nature. Why should we ever search out the most beautiful and precious life in life? Why shouldn't we emulate the tiny humming bird, flitting here and there—often over long distances—just to extract the honey from flowers? There is enough beauty in life for us all if we will go after it!

Elaine Firlie To Become Bride Of R. M. Kesler

Ceremony To Be In St. Patrick's

Miss Margaret Firlie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Firlie, 805 Columbia Avenue, is to become the bride of Richard Marcellus Kesler, son of Bernard L. Kesler, Sr., 318 Holland Street, and the late Mrs. Mary Kesler, today.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized by Rev. John Lyness in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, at 9 o'clock. Bouquets of white chrysanthemums and pom poms and candelabra of lighted tapers are being used to decorate the altar. Sister Aquinette will play the traditional processional from the opera, Lohengrin, and Mendelssohn's recessional besides the usual nuptial music.

Miss Margaret Condon, cousin of the bride, is to be her maid of honor and only attendant. Joseph Kesler will serve as his brother's best man and Bernard Kesler, Jr., another brother, will be one of the groomsmen.

The bride is wearing a gray suit with a pink hat and accessories and will carry a white prayer book with orchid marker and streamers of satin ribbon.

Her attendant will be attired in a forest green suit with matching accessories and will carry a nosegay of bronze and white pom poms. Mrs. Firlie has chosen a black print dress for her daughter's wedding. With it she will wear black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Allegheny High school and served two years with the WAVES during World War II. Her fiancé is also a veteran, having served in the ETO. He now is employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast is to be held for the immediate families and intimate friends at the home of the bride. A three-tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and groom, white chrysanthemums and long white tapers will be used in the decorations of the bride's table.

The bride will wear a gray and black costume for their trip west. Upon their return Mr. Kesler and his bride will reside at the home of her parents for the present.

In 1947, rubber trees immune to destructive leafspot disease, were introduced into cultivation.

Presbyterian Choir Marks Halloween

The First Presbyterian Church Choir held a Halloween party Wednesday night in the recreation room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hildebrand, 807 Maryland Avenue.

Jack-O-Lanterns covered the lights and the same motif was carried out in the decorations and games. Music featured the evening.

Members of the choir present were Jack E. Platt, director; Mrs. Albert H. Macy, Robert Stallings, Miss Pauline Likens, Henry K. Duke, Miss Patricia Golden, Mrs. Bert Graham, Mrs. Worth D. Coble, Miss Kathleen Cumber, Mrs. Frank Heiskell, William L. Wood, Miss Gene H. Miller, John S. Gridley and Rev. William A. Eisenberger was a guest.

The social committee included Mrs. Albert D. Heacock, chairman; Miss Lillian Boughton, Mrs. W. H. Longwell, Mrs. Theodore Haefling, Mrs. P. G. Ervin and Mrs. James Conrad.

Dolores Soterakos Honored At Party

A pre-nuptial kitchen shower honoring Miss Dolores Soterakos was given Thursday night by Miss Helen Giatras at her home, Davidson Street. A red and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations of the buffet supper table, which was centered with a sprinkling can filled with American Beauty roses.

Miss Soterakos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Soterakos, 117 Columbia Street, is the fiancée of Leonides N. Letheris, Farrell, Pa. She will become his bride in a Greek Orthodox ceremony November 14 in Emmanuel Episcopal Church with Rev. Constantine Bitzas, Johnstown, officiating.

Guests were Miss Athena Parnova, Miss Georgia Parnova, Miss Beatie Papadopoulos, Miss Kathryn Dendinos, Miss Virginia Koegel, Miss Annabelle McKenzie, Mrs. Louis Soterakos, Mrs. Calliope Curtis, Mrs. Pete Koumanis, Mrs. Mary Katsanis, Mrs. Nick Spano, Mrs. George Dendinos and Mrs. Clare Giatras.

Dance And Rally To Be Held By Celanese Local

Celanese Local 1874, TWU-CAIO, will sponsor a Halloween dance and rally Monday night at the Queen City Hotel ballroom. The Aristocrats will play for the dancing from 9 until 2 o'clock. Refreshments will be served.

William E. Meagher is chairman of the Special Activities committee assisted by Pearl Miller.

FOUR "JOHNNY" JONESSES—The above photograph of four generations of "Johnny" Jones was taken at the 83rd birthday celebration of the oldest member of the group, William John Jones, in Roanoke, Va., October 2. Mr. Jones, a retired supervisor of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, pursues his hobby of sports, attending baseball and football games and fishing three times a week in summer. Shown with him are his great grandson, John Frederick Jones, Harrisonburg, Va.; his son, John Arthur Jones, 214 North Lee Street, Cumberland, superintendent of the Celanese plant, and his grandson, John A. Jones, Jr., Harrisonburg, supervisor at the Celanese plant in Bridgewater, Va.

Josephine Guido To Be Bride Of Domenic Vitaro

Very Rev. Kilkenny Will Officiate

Miss Josephine Guido, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guido, 111 Polk Street, will become the bride of Domenic Vitaro, Blomox, Pa., today in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with Very Rev. Lawrence J. Kilkenny officiating. The ceremony will be solemnized at 10 o'clock and candelabra of lighted tapers, bouquets of white flowers and ferns will decorate the altar.

Miss Violet Turano will be the bride's maid of honor and William Vitaro will serve as best man for his brother. Nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches will be played by Sister Aquinette.

The bride will wear the traditional white satin gown fashioned with sweetheart neckline and full skirt ending in a long sweeping train. With it she will wear a veil of illusion and carry a bridal bouquet of lilies and two white orchids. Her attendant will wear a blue costume and will carry a bouquet of pink roses.

The bride attended Sacred Heart School, Celanese, Italy, coming to America two years ago. The bridegroom served with the Navy for 28 months in the Pacific Theater and is a tailor in Blomox.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast will be served at the Maryland Hotel and a reception is to be held at the Christopher Columbus Club from 1 until 4 o'clock, at which time a tiered wedding cake will center the refreshment table.

For their trip to New York City and Canada the bride will wear a navy blue suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white orchids. Upon their return they will reside in Blomox.

LaSalle 1942 Class To Meet Tomorrow

Thomas F. Conlon has called a luncheon meeting of the LaSalle Class of 1942 for 11:30 November 7 at the Golden Gate Tea Room. Plans are to be formulated for two separate events. One will be a dance and the other a dinner. Chairmen for both will be named at the meeting.

Lisa Parnova To Portray Red Riding Hood Nov. 8, 9, 10

Lisa Parnova, former premiere ballerina of the Cologne Opera, will appear in the Edwin Strawbridge production of "Red Riding Hood" under the sponsorship of the Allegheny County Council of Parents and Teachers.

She is regarded by critics as one of the outstanding dancers on the world stage today. Slim, exotic and lovely, Miss Parnova has a wide range of repertoire adaptable to the fairy tale medium of the Snow Maiden.

Her childhood was spent traveling in the countries of Europe where she absorbed a background which has been of advantage in her interpretation of the fairy tale world, which she will dominate on November 8 at Port Hill auditorium in two performances, one at 9:30 a. m. and the other at 12:45 p. m.

Repeat performances will also be given at Bruce High School, November 9 at 9:30 a. m.; Central High School, November 9 at 1:15 p. m. and Beall High, November 10 at 9:30 a. m. and 12:45 p. m.

A student of Michel Fokine, creator of the Russian ballet, Miss Parnova was engaged as premiere ballerina of the Cologne Opera while still in her teens. Her debut in New York revealed that she has acquired a style essentially her own and a dramatic sense of the dance which overnight raised her to an enviable place on the American stage.

BTU Has Halloween Party

The Training Union of Second Baptist Church held its annual Halloween social in the church basement Thursday night. The feature entertainment of the evening was an "operation" performed behind a sheet.

Francis Hoffman performed the operation; Leon England was the patient; Mrs. W. M. Hudson, the nurse; Warner Badgett and Richard Guthridge, orderlies; Mrs. Evelyn Guthridge, the grieving wife of the patient; and Mrs. Francis Hoffman, the narrator.

Games were played and prizes awarded for the costumes. The most original was given to Jacqueline Shaffer and Lester Hoffman; the prettiest to Louise Comer and Sandra Jean Orr; the ugliest, Delores Oldaker and the funniest, Barbara Hudson.

There also was a "house of horrors." Refreshments were served. The committee included Mrs. Evelyn Guthridge, Mrs. Dena Adams, Mrs. Goldie Oldaker, Mrs. Leon England, Miss Emily Pope and Mrs. Francis Hoffman.

Ursuline Has Party

Approximately 185 young people attended the Halloween party and dance earlier in the week sponsored by Ursuline Auxiliary. Mary Puderbaugh served as master of ceremonies for the dramatic skits presented during the evening.

Costume prizes were won by Mary Jo Summers, Mary Catherine Beck, Anne Russell, Helen Gilmore, Suzanne Wilson, Angela Manthey, Vera Nies, Dorothy Robinson, Mary Catherine Reissig, Margaret Miller, Louise Coffman, Myrna Mace, Norma Krizmenic, Elaine Weimer, Jeanne Schupfer, Jo Ann Johnson, Joan Snyder, Anna Mae Helin, Rita Wheeler, Joan Wood, Catherine Madden and Betty Miller.

Hadassah Will Entertain With Halloween Party

A Halloween party is being planned by Cumberland Chapter of Hadassah for 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the B'er Chayim Congregation vestry rooms. Members of the Sisterhood, B'nai Brith, Men's Zionist Group and their wives husbands have been invited.

All guests are urged to come in costume. Prizes are to be given for the most original, most humorous, best female and best male costumes.

There will be both square and round dancing, Leon Klompus calling the figures for the square dancing.

Games are to be played under the direction of Mrs. Jack Yankelwitz. Several novelty games have been prepared and refreshments will be served. Fall flowers, leaves and Halloween decorations will transform the vestry rooms for an autumn festival.

Memorial Auxiliary To Me

The fall and winter program of Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will be outlined at the meeting of the group at a luncheon at 1 o'clock Tuesday in Centre Street Methodist Church hall.

Reservations should be made by tonight with Mrs. H. W. Eliason, Hospitality chairman.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Can a guilty conscience drive you insane?

Answer: Probably not if the offense with which it charges you occurred after you had grown up, except in so far as the adult wrong acts or desire revives unconscious memories of some childish violation of your parents' teaching. But a child who is made to feel guilty or ashamed at unwise methods of expressing instincts he cannot help having—for example, sexual curiosity, or anger at his parents when they seem to punish him unfairly—may develop so acute a sense of guilt that he'll take refuge from it in delusions.

Is it childish to rate money higher than love?
Answer: I believe so, even though the people who tell you "it's money that counts in the long run" usually think that they are more mature and "sophisticated" than you are. For just as a child who knows no better may prefer the food that tastes best or looks prettiest without thinking of what it may do to his digestion, so the childish-minded adult may think only of the things that money will buy, regardless of whether he'll be able to enjoy them. And a person who tries to live without love can't enjoy anything long.

no people to learn, for example, they should be tested in the sort of problems with which they have had equal experience in dealing. A man with but little formal education might seem stupid if called on to take tests which involve the sort of work done in a high school classroom, yet reveal himself as brilliant in grasping new aspects of the trade he lives by.

Group Plans Jingle Party

The Mt. Pleasant WSCS formulated plans for a jingle party in December at the meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Pleasant Messick, Baltimore Pike. It is to be held at the home of Mrs. Rhoda Clingerman. A produce basket was presented to Rev. and Mrs. A.B.L. Fisher.

Taking part in the program were Mrs. Hazel Luttrell, Mrs. Sarabelle Weatherholt, Mrs. Nellie Charlton, Mrs. Bernadette Hinkle and Rev. Fisher.

Thirty-two thousand high schools, employing 335,000 teachers, were operating in the United States in 1940. School expenditures totaled $3,300,000,000.

O'Neal Uninjured Safely Award When Car Crashes Given Celanese

Melvin Kyle O'Neal, 21, 1205 Bedford Street, was apparently uninjured when his car careened from Greene Street early yesterday morning and crashed against a Potomac Edison power pole.

He was charged with reckless driving and posted $645 bond for a hearing Monday in Trial Magistrate Court.

Lt. James E. Van, who investigated with Officer Patsy Algeri, said O'Neal was driving north when the machine jumped the curb and traveled about 30 feet before hitting the pole in front of 626 Greene Street. The pole "broke in half" and considerable damage was done to the car, he added.

Fred R. Grove, 75, of 624 Greene Street, was fatally injured Saturday when he was hit by a truck driven by William Walter Schumaker, 29, of 14 Mertens Street, Ridgeley, who is free under $1,000 bond on a manslaughter charge.

The National Safety Council has awarded its top safety award to the Anacostia plant of the Celanese Corporation of America in recognition of its outstanding achievement in reducing the frequency of disabling injuries at the local plant during the period from July 1, 1947, to June 30, 1948.

The award to the Celanese was in Division No. 1 of the textile section and the local plant won out over 25 of the largest textile companies in the country. It was only the second year that the Celanese had entered the contest and a basis for determining the reduction in the frequency of injuries had to be established last year.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Safety Council, presented the award to Magnus Work, safety engineer in charge of this work at the local plant, in a ceremony in Chicago recently.

Work said that since 1943 the Anacostia plant has reduced disabling injuries from 8.02 per million man-hours work to 3.61, with the reduction from the previous year being from 5.85 to 5.61.

Plans are underway at the Celanese plant here to further reduce the injury rate and Work commented that the presence of more than 200 handicapped veterans in jobs at the local plant did not hold back the excellent record. In fact, Work stated that the handicapped veterans at the Celanese had excellent safety records and in most cases better than workers with no handicaps.

Escaped Convict Caught At McCoole

Stanley Robert McCloud, an escapee from custody at Hopewell Sanitarium, near Terra Alta, W. Va., was apprehended yesterday at his home near McCoole by Maryland State Police.

Trooper Milton Hart, of the La-Vale barracks, who made the arrest, said McCloud had been staying with his mother since his escape last month.

McCloud had been sentenced by Judge Ernest A. See, Keyser, during the October, 1947, term of Mineral County Circuit Court, to a term of two to ten years in the West Virginia State Penitentiary at Moundsville after he pleaded guilty to the theft of a car.

He had been transferred from the penitentiary to the sanitarium for medical treatment under custody.

Training School For Electricians Gets Under Way

Union-Management To Assist In Work

A training school for electrician apprentices which will lead to Department of Labor training certificates has been inaugurated under the direction of a joint labor-management committee, George W. Lucas, business manager of Local 307, Electrical Workers Union, AFL, announced yesterday.

The classes began October 21 and are held each Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in Allegheny Trades Council Hall.

Lucas said all 20 of the apprentices Local 307 is training, will be required to take the course during their apprenticeship. Basic requirements call for 144 hours of class instruction each year.

Although the classes are designed primarily for apprentices, the joint committee will urge that journeymen who wish to brush up on fundamentals attend.

Wade Coffey, this city, has been selected as instructor. During the past two sessions, Monroe Keister, area Underwriter inspector, has discussed new changes in the Underwriters electrical code.

The committee pointed out that formal instruction for apprentices is especially necessary today due to the rapid strides being made in the industry.

Among the basic subjects which will be taught in the school are house wiring, conduit, metal mouldings, office installations, general wiring, maintenance, motor operation and repair, armature winding, fixtures, and underground wiring.

Plans for the school have been underway for some time, the committee said. Rules of the National Apprenticeship Program of the Department of Labor will be followed.

City Collection Of Leaves Scheduled

Schedule of times when fallen leaves will be collected by Street Department trucks in various sections of the city was announced yesterday by City Commissioner Edgar Reynolds.

Residents are asked to collect leaves in piles at the curb on the afternoon of the collection day in their section. Leaves may be placed in containers but they will be easier to collect if left in piles, Reynolds said.

On Monday night, November 1, collections will be made in The Dingle and that section of West Side south of Washington Street to the river.

On Tuesday night, November 2, the trucks will cover the remaining West Side area, including Washington Street and north to Willis Creek.

Collections will be made Wednesday night, November 3, in the Johnson Heights section and South Cumberland from Baltimore Street to the B. and O. tracks.

On Thursday night, November 4, collections will be made in the South Cumberland section known as "Egypt," between the B. and O. tracks and the canal.

Collections will be made in the entire North End section Friday night, November 5, from Baltimore Street up to and including Piedmont Avenue.

All American

fully expects to get final approval from the Civil Aeronautics Board before January 1.

The Pittsburgh to Baltimore-Washington route will be the first link of the new All American operation to be placed in service, Miller said. When service is started, Cumberland will be less than an hour away from Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Washington.

Decision Expected Soon

The line traffic manager said final oral arguments in the All American pick up suspension case are scheduled before the CAB in Washington Thursday.

"This is the last step prior to final approval by the CAB to allow All-American to convert its limited mail and property service to conventional passenger, mail and property service," Miller said. "Our officials anticipate a final favorable decision before January 1."

When All American service starts in February we will have two flights westward and two flights eastward daily for Cumberland. That is only a minimum service," he added, "and before 1949 comes to a close we fully expect to have a third round trip in operation."

To Make Trial Runs

Miller said the company's nine DC-3s being made ready for flight by the Douglas Aircraft Company, Santa Monica, Calif., will be available in December and that trial runs will be started before January 1.

Before service for Cumberland gets underway, Miller said, one or more of the DC-3s will be brought here for inspection. The planes seat 24 passengers.

The route will start in Pittsburgh with the first stop at Conneville, Uniontown, Pa. Next will be Cumberland, Hagerstown, Baltimore and Washington. Alternate flights will also stop at Martinsburg and Frederick.

Other Links To Follow

Passengers leaving Cumberland will be able to connect with most of the nation's main airlines at Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Washington.

Immediately after the first link is started service will be extended from Washington to Eastern-Cambridge, and Salisbury on the Eastern Shore, to Georgetown, Dover and Wilmington, Del., and Philadelphia.

Another route, Washington to Atlantic City, will follow. A Pittsburgh to Cincinnati route will come next and a Pittsburgh to Buffalo link will follow.

In addition to conferring with city, Municipal Airport Commission, and Chamber of Commerce officials, Miller discussed the local operation with John M. DeLaGrange, president of Mountain Airways, operator of the local port.

500 Attend Coney Republican Dinner

About 500 members and guests of the Locomotion Young Men's Republican Club attended an oyster fry and pre-election rally last night at the club rooms.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall, candidate for re-election to Congress, and C. L. Richards, this city, addressed the gathering. Special guests were members of the state central committee and some members of the state legislature.

Paul M. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee for Allegheny County, was toastmaster. He was introduced by Matthew Martin, president of the organization.

Levels Man Held On Auto Theft

Maryland State Police were notified last night that Joseph Dobb, Levels, Va., was arrested near Columbia, Ohio, yesterday in an automobile reported stolen here Thursday.

Authorities said the stolen automobile was reported by Lloyd Harrison, 410 Baltimore Avenue, who said the vehicle was parked near his home.

Police had no further details on Dobb late last night.

Events In Brief

Circle 2, Centre Street Methodist Church, will hold a rummage sale Monday night at 7 o'clock in the church basement. The circle will have its regular meeting in the parlor following the sale.

Quick-Scoring

six and the Campers were penalized to the one for unnecessary roughness and again Martinsburg was knocking at the touchdown door. But a fumble on the first play by Waugh was recovered by the Campers' All-State center, Jim Ruel, to stop the threat.

Midway in the second stanza Vernal hit Abrams in the basket with a long aerial thrown from the Allegheny 25 and the speedy halfback gathered the pigskin in on the Martinsburg 40 and raced unopposed into pay dirt for the third Alico score.

Again just before the half ended Blaine Morton spotted Bruce out in the flat and hit the 19-second man with a bullet pass and Bruce was again off to the races, catching the ball on the Allegheny 35 and racing 65 yards for the score. The clever halfback showed a beautiful change of pace on this travel down the gridiron, faking several Martinsburg tacklers out of position and racing around them to go the distance.

It was these sudden thrusts by Abrams and Bruce that gave the Pence aggregation a working margin of 25-0 at halftime.

A sustained 80-yard march from the second half kickoff brought Allegheny its final score with Bruce traveling the final 10 yards around end for his third touchdown of the game. An 18 yard run by Bruce and a 22-yard aerial from Tom Oglebay to End Johnny Vernal were the highlights of this drive.

Martinsburg came to life again in the last quarter against the Allegheny second and third stringers to pick up 61 yards rushing and 32 more via the air lanes to tally its only six-point drive.

Bill Miller, substitute fullback, sparked the Bulldog drive making several long runs and Bill Dick took the oval the remaining 20 yards on a naked reverse for the score.

Ray Lamp, tall, rangy left end of the Bulldogs, was the outstanding player for the visitors, capably helped by Herbie Hovemale, Dick Tucker, Wade Waugh and Connie Roberts. Abrams, Bruce, Ruel, Oglebay and Vernal were the best for Allegheny. The win was the seventh straight for the undefeated, untied Campers. The lineups:

Farm Meeting Series Planned

Film slides of conservation practices in effect on county farms will be shown at a series of farm meetings this winter, it was announced yesterday by County Farm Agent Ralph F. McHenry.

The announcement came after a meeting at McHenry's office in the Court House with soil conservation district supervisors and representatives of the United States Soil Conservation Service.

The slides will be shown to acquaint county farmers with soil conservation methods and the procedure involved in applying them to a farm.

No definite dates have been set for the meetings, McHenry said, and no arrangements have been made yet.

Those attending yesterday's meeting were District Supervisors Wilbur Paul, H. M. Gordon, Charles Harter and Ernest Silder, Charles D. Crocker and Martin Gordon of the Soil Conservation Service, and Albert O'Neal, chairman of the production and marketing association.

zone and raced back to the Maryland 27 as the fourth period got underway.

Three plays later, Del Bello hit the right side of the Maryland line, then cut back to the left as the entire Miami team formed interference and escorted him 33 yards to the Maryland goal. A wild pass from center ruined Miami's extra point try.

But the Terps were not done. Moving from their own 31 with Turyn's passes clicking for consistent gains, Maryland went to the Miami 11. Bonk hit right guard for four and then rammed through the same spot to score. Dean's kick was good and Maryland led 27-13.

The contest ended with Maryland on the Miami 23 and another touchdown in the making.

Three Referenda

A sewing school, constitutional amendments are also listed on the November 2 ballot to be voted on.

Three of the constitutional amendments are of little interest to this county. They pertain to the acquisition and disposal of property in Baltimore and to boundary changes of Baltimore City and certain counties.

Limits Governor

Another constitutional amendment is designed to limit the governor to two successive elective terms, instead of the present system of unlimited elective service.

Also on the ballot is a constitutional amendment which would make legislative consent unnecessary to give, sell or demise land, goods or chattels to any minister, public teacher or preacher or any religious sect, order or denomination.

Under present law, the legislature must approve such gifts.

The sixth constitutional amendment is designed to provide for annual sessions of the legislature instead of the present biennial system.

If the amendment is approved, 90-day legislative sessions would be held in odd years, and 30-day sessions in even years.

Annual sessions have been proposed so that more accurate estimates of departmental budgets can be made than is possible in a two-year period, and to eliminate the need for special sessions, proponents explain.

The final amendment, sponsored by the American Legion, provides that no person who is a member of an organization that advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the government of the United States or the State of Maryland shall be eligible to hold any elective or appointive office in state, county or municipal government in Maryland.

Two Pass Pre-Induction Tests At Army Station

Of the six men sent from Cumberland Draft Board 26 for pre-induction mental and physical examinations, two passed both tests, according to First Lt. George J. Gocke, commanding officer of the local Army recruiting station. Five passed the mental test.

Those examined include Thomas E. Ford, John O. Cox, Charles E. Gorman, Carl E. Lowery, James E. Pfister, and Kenneth C. Stottelmyer.

Three men from Board 27 will receive pre-induction tests Tuesday, six men from Frostburg Board 30 will be tested Wednesday, 12 men from Cumberland Board 28 on Friday and seven men from Oakland Board 47 on November 8.

The first induction call made through the local Army office will be Wednesday when three men from Cumberland Board 30 will be sworn in. On Friday one man from Cumberland Board 28 will be inducted; November 8 one man from Oakland Board 47 will enter and November 9 one man from Cumberland Board 27 will be inducted.

Jaycees Sponsor High School Radio Contest Again

The "I Speak for Democracy" contest will again be sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce in co-operation with the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Broadcasters and the Radio Manufacturers Association.

All 10th, 11th and 12th Grade students in Allegany County public and parochial high schools have been invited through their principals to enter.

According to Robert L. Ebert, chairman of the Jaycee Americanism Committee and also chairman of the contest here, the event has been approved by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools. Ebert suggests that each school conduct the competition as an English department project.

Any student in good standing scholastically and morally is eligible to enter the contest which will be judged 40 points on content, 40 points on delivery and 20 points on originality. Speeches must be limited to five minutes and they may be read.

November 26 Deadline

Procedure to be followed at each school may be decided upon by the person responsible for the contest. Ebert explained, but the winning contestant in each school must be chosen no later than Friday, November 26.

The representatives from the schools will participate in a preliminary elimination on Saturday, November 27, at 9 a. m. over radio station WTBO. Eight semi-finalists will be chosen.

The eight winners will broadcast their speeches over the two Cumberland radio stations at different times on Saturday, November 27 and four finalists will be chosen.

These four will broadcast in a joint hook-up of WTBO and WCUM at 5 p. m. Sunday, November 28, when the Allegany county winner will be selected.

The winner will compete by transcription with other Maryland county entries during the week of November 23 to 26. The state winner will be entered in a regional test.

Scholarship Prizes

Each of the four winners will receive a $500 scholarship to any accredited college, a wrist watch and several other personal prizes. In addition they will receive an all-expense trip to Washington to attend the award presentation banquet. While there they will be taken on sight-seeing tours and will be feasted at social events.

Local prizes, announced by Ebert, include $50 to the English department of the school which produces the winner. The winner and runner-up will each receive radios and the third and fourth place winners will get merchandise awards.

Every high school in the county participated in the contest last year which was won by Donald McCoy, who was graduated last spring from Fort Hill High.

New House Hit By Trailer-Truck

A runaway tractor-trailer truck hit and demolished a newly built four-room bungalow in Kitzmiller yesterday.

The driver, Theodore Gaich, of Irwin, Pa., was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, at 4:15 a. m. for treatment of minor bruises and lacerations, attendants reported.

According to authorities, the vehicle, owned by Nick Lucon, of Westmoreland City, Pa., was traveling east on Route 38 loaded with eight mine cars consigned to the Vindex mine of the Johnstown Coal and Coke Company.

Gaich told investigating officers that the brakes on the trailer failed on the outskirts of Kitzmiller, and on the hill leading into the town the brakes on the tractor were burned out as he attempted to stop the truck.

As the carrier, out of control, entered Kitzmiller, Gaich started to turn into a street, and the vehicle left the road and crashed into a pile of bricks.

The truck continued 50 feet and

"Punkin" Time

It is often a disappointment to see the summer season end. Flowers and leaves will soon be gone. Warm, sunny days will soon be replaced by cold, dreary ones. Outdoor activities will be few.

And yet, there are compensations. Who does not delight in tasting the first pumpkin pie of the season? And who does not enjoy tramping through brightly-colored autumn leaves? And then follows sleigh-riding in the snow, cozy evenings before an open fire; and then Spring again. Each season of the year brings new pleasures to replace the old ones.

Just as God gives us many and enduring blessings in the changing seasons, so does he offer us rich spiritual rewards. Month after month, season after season, and year after year, the Church stands ready and willing to give us comfort, hope, and inspiration. Great success or utter failure may await us. Either may be disastrous. We can better face the many changes in our daily living by attending the services of the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Tatum's Terps Score In Orange Bowl, 27-13

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 29 (AP)—The bowl-conscious Maryland Terps, with the power of an elephant herd, rode over a game University of Miami football team 27-13 in the Orange Bowl here tonight before 33,341 fans.

The first period was a dud but the second was a thriller as Maryland counted six points and then the Hurricanes big Harry Ghaul made good a point after touchdown to put Miami ahead 7-6.

The alert Terps, however, with the passing of Victor Lurie and the line plunging of big Harry Ghaul counted again to take a lead they never relinquished.

The Marylanders defeated only by Duke in five games, scored their first six points when Jim Lurie grabbed a Turyn pass from the Miami 39 yard line, taking the ball on a lateral, went deep and all the way to score. Bob Dean's placement was bad.

The Marylanders defeated only by Duke in five games, scored their first six points when Jim Lurie grabbed a Turyn pass from the Miami 39 yard line, taking the ball on a lateral, went deep and all the way to score. Bob Dean's placement was bad.

The alert Terps, however, with the passing of Victor Lurie and the line plunging of big Harry Ghaul counted again to take a lead they never relinquished.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29.—(INS)—William Powell has made many movies in the years he's been in Hollywood, but none have had more popular appeal than "The Thin Man" series.

Bill always enjoyed making those pictures. So he is going to tear himself away from his home in Palm Springs to do another suspense melodrama for William Goetz on his third straight lead-out picture to Universal-International.

Playwright Irwin Shaw has written a thriller, "Take One False Step." Chester Erskine, the producer, will bring Bill and the melodrama before the cameras January 5.

Now if Bill Goetz could persuade Myrna Loy to play opposite him, he'd be happy because she is still his favorite leading lady. He once told me that she, more than any actress he knew, has the art of successfully underplaying a scene.

Maybe you wonder what has happened to Valentine Cortez, the Italian beauty Darryl Zanuck brought here for 20th Century-Fox, who hasn't appeared in an American picture yet.

Well, I was at the studio today and learned you will be seeing her soon. She's just been given the feminine lead in "The Hard Bargain," which goes into production November 12 with Richard Conte as her co-star.

Director Jules Dassin, who saw Valentine in some tests, asked aloud for her and got her.

Nice to hear the happiness in Don De Fore's voice when he told me that Hal Wallis has given him a new contract. He makes one picture a year for Wallis, with the privilege of making as many outside commitments as he wishes.

Don is one of the solid citizens of our town. He has a wife and a family, and is a thoroughly all-right guy.

His first picture, independently speaking, will be "House of Cards," in which he and Laraine Day will be starred. He will make it for Lester Cuper for a United Artists release.

At long last, Marie Oberon has made her plans known to her agent, Sam Jaffe, and a few of her friends. Marie has reservations on the Queen Mary, which is due to dock in

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Larry Finley is en route to Mayo's for a checkup. Here is hoping his next year will find him in much better health.

Natalie Draper (Mrs. Ivan Goff) has been ill with a bad cold. Since she expects her baby in a month, she is staying in bed until she completely recovers.

The pleasantest news I have had in many a day is the report from Boston that Irene Rich is a hit in Mike Todd's new musical, "As the Girls Go." Betty Kern sent a wire raving over Irene and over Jimmy McHugh's new numbers.

Ann Southern, who has taken off much weight, has bought many new clothes to show off her slender new figure.

Ann Warner, who has been at the hospital every day with Jack, who by the way, is recovering nicely from his operation, asked me to come in for a cup of tea and meet Prince Peter and Princess Irene of Greece.

Anita Stewart, looking as glamorous as she did when she was a silent star, was at Charley Foy's with James Davidson, cookie manufacturer.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kelly Winners In Tucker Better Farming Contest

PARSONS, W. Va.—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kelly, Leadmine, were county winners in the 1943 Farming For Better Living contest for Tucker County. It was announced at the annual meeting of the group in Camp Kidd Thursday night.

Kelly, a veteran of World War II, is one of the four Silver Star holders in this county. Born and reared on a farm, he has been a farm owner for only the past three years. The prize to be awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Kelly at the regional meeting in Clarksburg later this year will be $25 in cash from the Monongahela Power Company, sponsors of the project.

Other winners in the county were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cooper, Davis, second place; Mr. and Mrs. Boye Auld, Parsons, third place; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd M. Ball, Parsons, third; Mr. and Mrs. Gray Harper, Dry Fork, fourth; Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Felton, Parsons, fifth, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Miller, St. George, sixth place winners.

All the above winners received from $15 to $25 in prizes in cash or merchandise. The other winners, Albert Hill, Parsons, Route 2; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wilt, Route 3, St. George; Mr. and Mrs. James P. Vickers, Kereas; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Knight, Leadmine, and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Auld, Route 2, St. George, all received $5 in cash or merchandise.

Ben F. Thompson, chairman of the Farming For Better Living Council, introduced Rev. Harold D. Shiflet, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, who gave the invocation and introduced Robert Templeton, project director of Farming For Better Living.

Toastmaster was Walter Dutton, Oakland, Md., who introduced the following men: D. E. Cuppett, Sr., Thomas, who represented the Thomas Lions Club; Cecil M. Stalnaker, Parsons Chamber of Commerce; Louis Bomberger, Davis Chamber of Commerce; Ralph Rowland, River City Club, Parsons; Reardon Cuppett, county superintendent of schools; Agent A. L. Kidd who has helped with the program for the past 10 years, and Miss Esther Feathers, new 4-H club agent for Tucker County.

Jimmy Stenowski, Elkins magician, entertained the guests with several tricks.

Robert Templeton then presented the year's awards and Miss Anna Bogdanovich, Davis, led group singing. Following the dinner and presentation of awards the guests played folk games.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. V. Turner, W. Grady Whitman, Robert Templeton, all of Elkins; Miss Lois Keith and James Egan, Elkins; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dawson, Oakland; Harley Stagers of Keyser; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Phelps, Louis Bomberger and Anna Bogdanovich, all of Davis.

Program chairman was Miss Martha Bomberger, Davis.

Lola Mae Harvey Has Birthday Party

KEMPTON—Mrs. Kenneth Harvey entertained with a party recently in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Lola Mae. After a program of games, a plate luncheon was served. The Halloween motif was used.

Among the guests were Patricia Cook, Suzanne and Billy Povish, Denny Corbin, Helen Lewis, Bobby Buckley, Charles Teets, Skip Simmons, Dale Metheny, Norma Sweetzer, Donna and Karen Sue Harvey, Paul and Harry Siler and Mrs. Clarence Switzer.

TRI-STATE DEATHS

MRS. ERNEST R. KNOTTS—ROWLESBURG, W. Va.—Mrs. Minnie Catherine Knotts, 71, wife of Ernest R. Knotts, Lantz Ridge, Star Route, died last Friday. She was born September 6, 1877, a daughter of the late Hiram and Mary Cline Blaker.

In addition to her husband, she leaves two sons, Lester Knotts, Rowlesburg, and William Knotts, Manheim; a daughter, Mrs. L. M. Smith, Rowlesburg, and three sisters, Mrs. Cynthia Priestner, Kingwood; Mrs. Amanda Patterson, Rowlesburg, and Mrs. Lilly Dunbar, Baltimore.

MRS. JOSEPH H. BLAIR—PARSONS, W. Va.—Mrs. Sarah Ann Blair, 76, wife of Joseph H. Blair, St. George, died Friday in a local hospital where she had been a patient several days. Her parents were the late George B. and Susan Todd Phillips.

Also surviving are four sons, Morgan and William H. Blair, St. George; Elihu Blair, Lawrenceville, Ind.; and George Blair, Weston.

MRS. HESS SERVICE—KEYSER, W. Va.—A funeral service for Mrs. Louise Hess, 33, wife of Earl K. Hess, who died in Potomac Valley Hospital Thursday as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident earlier that morning, will be held from the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Welch, 285 North Water Street, at 2:30 p. m. today, with Rev. John C. B. McLaughlin, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating.

The body will be placed in the mausoleum at Rock Hill Cemetery, Cumberland, pending the recovery of her husband, who is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital.

Active pallbearers will be Dr. Thad T. Huffman, Dr. James Egle, James Willis, Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr., Edwin Jordan, all of Keyser, and William L. Wilson, Jr., of Cumberland.

Rachel Casteel Weds Frank Hood

OAKLAND—The wedding of Miss Rachel Louise Casteel, daughter of Mrs. Margaret E. Casteel, Oakland, to Mr. Frank W. Hood, Jr., Cincinnati, Ohio, took place October 22, at 4 p. m., in St. Paul's Methodist Church here.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Denver C. Pickens, pastor, before a background of autumn leaves, chrysanthemums and four seven-branch oak candelabras, flanked on both sides by floor standards of chrysanthemums.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her nephew, William A. Casteel, wore a light beige gabardine suit with pink fur, matching accessories and corsage of bronze orchids.

Her sister, Mrs. Loraine H. Weeks, matron of honor, wore a brown faille suit with green accessories and a corsage of tulle and roses.

Mr. Hood had as his best man his brother, Hugh Lane Hood, Rowlets, Ky.; Arthur Savage, Loraine H. Weeks, Weiba Casteel and Reardon Purbaugh were ushers.

Julius Littman played a program of nuptial music while the guests assembled, and Mrs. Russell Brown sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because" preceding the ceremony.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Pickwick Inn. Mrs. Mason Glatfelter and Mrs. Charles W. Hall, Jr., sisters of the bride, cut the wedding cake. Mrs. Arthur Savage, another sister, poured, and Mrs. Nelson Bucklew, sister, registered the guests.

After a visit to eastern cities the couple returned to Cincinnati, Ohio, where they will reside.

The bride is a graduate of Oakland High School. For the past five years she has been a sales representative for the McCall corporation.

The groom is a graduate of the University of Kentucky where he received an A. B. degree in journalism and is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. At the present time he writes industrial advertising for the American Laundry Machinery company, Cincinnati.

Kindergarten Holds Halloween Party

LUKE—The Tri-Towns Kindergarten class held a Halloween party at their Luke School room Wednesday morning.

All of the children were masked and there were cowboys, Dutch girls, wolves and clowns and many other who appeared only on Halloween. The room was decorated with pumpkins, bats and witches made by the children.

Halloween games were played and the children bobbed for doughnuts. The prize winners for costumes were Peggy Hitt, as Mammy; Diane Farney as an Elf; Susan Bantz as a gypsy; Bobby Mitchell as a pirate; Paul Bowman as a cat, and Terry Whelan, as a live ghost. Jimmy Martin and Susan LaFon won the tail-on-the-cat contest.

Each child received an orange and a treat. The children were treated to Halloween refreshments. The children's pictures were taken in their Halloween costumes.

The party was arranged by Mrs. Eugene Paxton, Jr., and Mrs. Melvin Moorehead in conjunction with Mrs. Doris Boal Mitchell, the kindergarten teacher.

Kempton W.S.C.S. Has Alaskan Program

KEMPTON—"Alaska Among the Northern Lights" was the theme of the October meeting of the WSCS held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Harry D. Wolfe.

The worship service and business meeting were in charge of Mrs. L. W. Duling. Mrs. Wolfe read the Scripture lesson. Meditations were read by Rev. R. W. Morrow and Mrs. Harry Buckley.

Mary Baldasara, sixth grade student, showed an Alaskan flag she had made and recited a poem explaining its significance. Mrs. E. Paul Dice gave a talk, "Some Facts about Alaska," and Mrs. Paul Carr spoke on "The Methodists and Alaska."

Present were Mrs. Guy Wilson, Mrs. E. Paul Dice, Mrs. Paul Carr, Mrs. Harry Buckley, Mrs. L. W. Duling, Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Morrow, Mrs. Arthur King, Miss Mary Baldasara and Miss Dorothea King.

The next meeting will be held at the home November 18 of Mrs. Arthur King.

Riley Boy Is Winner Of Moose Costume Prize

KEYSER, W. Va.—Freddie Lee Riley, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Riley, 112 Mozzelle Street, won first prize in the costume contest yesterday at the Halloween party sponsored by Lodge No. 662, Loyal Order of Moose. He was given $5.

Over 700 Keyser Elementary School students were guests. Following movies of the Easter egg hunt and party sponsored by the Moose and announcement of costume winner in the Keyser High School auditorium the students returned to their rooms for refreshments. They were each presented with a noise maker.

A parade then formed at the school headed by the American Legion Band, Boyce-Houser Post No. 41. It proceeded to Armstrong Street to Main Street, Piedmont Street and back to the school building.

MAKES INSPECTION—Shown above is Comdr. A. O. Murray, of the electronics warfare program office at Fifth Naval District headquarters, Norfolk, Va., as he inspected the Frostburg Naval Radio Station Thursday in observance of Navy Day on Wednesday.

Mobile Unit Power Plant Installed At Frostburg Naval Radio Station

Norfolk Official Makes Inspection

FROSTBURG—Comdr. A. O. Murray, of the District Reserve electronics warfare program office of the Fifth Naval District, Norfolk, Va., was here Thursday making an inspection of the Frostburg Naval Radio Station, located at 166 East Main Street, Herman G. Hamilton, veteran of World War II, is in charge of the station.

Numerous technical additions have recently been installed, increasing the station's efficiency and designed to interest area men in joining the Naval Reserve.

One of the new additions to the local station is a mobile unit power plant, operated by a gasoline motor which may be moved to any point for the purpose of furnishing light for hospitals or other public buildings in an emergency.

The station is also equipped to provide emergency communication from the Frostburg area to other parts of the country.

If the training available at the Frostburg station attracts the interest of a large number of young men, the facilities will be increased, Comdr. Murray said.

FROSTBURG MAN WEDS BETTY JANE KNEPP

FROSTBURG—Carroll Anthony McKenzie, son of Mrs. Lucella McKenzie, and Miss Betty Jane Knepp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ellis Knepp, Finzel, were married Thursday in the rectory of St. Michael's Catholic Church.

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Michael McKenzie, all of Finzel.

The bride wore a dark blue suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The couple will reside at the home of the bride's parents. The groom is a veteran of World War II.

MRS. SULLIVAN HOLDS HALLOWEEN PARTY

Y.T. SAVAGE—Mrs. Patrick Sullivan, Railroad Street, was hostess at a Halloween party at her home Thursday evening, with over 30 guests present.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Charles Albright, Miss Olive Wilderman, Frostburg; Mrs. Ted Lancaster, Mrs. Edward Ratigan, Mrs. Jesse Yantz and George Deffenbaugh.

Central Students Present Program

LONACONING—A Halloween program was presented by students of Room 205 on Friday morning at Central School.

A play, "A Quiet Halloween" was presented by Mary Lou Dawson, Louise Diller, Doris Wilson, Flora Machin, Paul Brooks, Billy Turnbull, Bobbie Paris and Ronald Warlick. Shirley Burt and Shirley Stafford played a piano duet. Songs were sung by the B-A boys and girls.

Eddie Thompson played a trumpet solo. A recitation was given by Carol Thompson and a piano selection was played by Robbie Sloan.

Bureau Of Mines Reports On Four County And West Virginia Mines

Improvement in ventilation facilities for three Allegany County and one Preston County, W. Va., mines were recommended by reports from the Federal Bureau of Mines after recent inspections but conditions were considered generally good.

Further precautionary measures to supplement several recent safety improvements were recommended in the Hoffa No. 4 Mine, Pekin, operated by the A. P. Hoffa Coal Company, this mine employed 33 men and produced 125 tons of coal when W. D. Baldwin inspected it in September.

Inspector Baldwin recommended improving ventilation when the air in which men work or travel contains more than 1/2 of 1 percent carbon dioxide, installing airlock doors along the new main haulage way, and providing substantial and incombustible stoppings between intake and return air courses. Recent improvements included locating the ventilating fan in a fireproof structure on the surface, and providing it with a fireproof air duct and necessary safety features, and maintaining two permissible flame safety lamps in proper working condition.

Permissible explosives and permissible blasting units were used for all on-shift blasting, a systematic timbering method was being followed, and roof was frequently tested. Any broken cross bars should be promptly replaced with adequate timbers, the inspector said.

Some of the underground employees used open flame cap lamps and smoking was practiced in the mine. Inspector Baldwin advocated the exclusive use of the permissible electric cap lamps provided by the company, and discontinuance of smoking in the mine.

Recent improvements also included fire doors in the old haulage opening, dry wooden platforms at shop control switches, progress in removing obstructions from haulage ways, positive identification upon the person of three-fourths of the employees, and the wearing of protective footwear by most employees.

Other recommendations called for more shelter holes, use of enclosed trip lights, underground telephone service, added mechanical safeguards, and the wearing of approved-type goggles for all eye-hazardous work.

Adoption of further ventilation safeguards and other protective measures to supplement existing precautions at the McNitt Coal Company's McNitt No. 3 mine is recommended in an official reinspection report issued by the Bureau of Mines. At Midlothian, the mine employed 16 men and averaged 65 tons of coal daily when it was revisited in September by Inspector W. D. Baldwin.

Inspector Baldwin recommended that more air be delivered to the intake end of the pillar line, suggesting also offset surface installation, a fireproof housing and safety devices for the ventilating fan, construction of an air lock on the haulage slope, and adequate ventilation of all working places.

Other recommendations called for removal of materials obstructing shelter holes or adequate clearance at specified switch throws, surface-underground telephone service, 100 percent wearing of safety shoes, use of goggles by employees exposed to flying particles, and prohibition of using open-flame lights and smoking in the mine.

Noting that a second opening to the surface had been provided and that an adequate check-in-and-out system had been established, the report also cited several long-established safety features. These included satisfactory timbering practices, frequent roof testing, use of permissible explosives and approved shot-firing units for all blasting, preshift and weekly examinations for explosive gas and other hazards, and placing of rock dust at strategic points underground to facilitate fire-fighting.

Generally satisfactory safety conditions were found at the Koonitz Coal Company's 60-ton-a-day Swanton mine, Barton, by W. D. Baldwin. A few supplementary measures were recommended after the September inspection of the 18-man mine.

At the time of the reinspection, ventilation throughout the mine was adequate, but Inspector Baldwin found that the main ventilating fan should be offset at least 15 feet from the main opening in a fireproof housing and equipped with pressure-relief facilities, a suitable gauge, and a stoppage signal. A second door should be installed in the main drift opening to form an airlock in case of fire.

Recommending discontinuance of smoking and the use of open lights in the mine, Inspector Baldwin also advocated the use of approved containers for carrying explosives into the mine, firing of permissible explosives with electric detonators, incombustible stemming in all boreholes, adoption of a positive personnel-identification plan and wearing of safety-toe footwear by employees likely to be endangered by falling objects and goggles by those in eye-hazardous work.

Between inspections, the belt drive of the main ventilating fan was guarded adequately, the inspector stated.

Generally good safety conditions, except for failure to follow the systematic timbering plan, were commended after Inspector Harry Jones

LIKE HER MA—Ann Mace, the daughter of a "Ziegfeld" actress, is one of the few Diamond Horseshoe long-stemmers to be born in New York City. She is striving to bring back the "stage-door Johnny," whom her mother told her was far more generous than the masquerade of today. "It's merely a case of teaching men to buy champagne instead of beer when they take you out," she says, "and it doesn't have to be drunk out of a slipper."

examined the Bretz Fuel Company Mine, Bretz, Preston County, W. Va. The mine employed 60 men and produced 500 tons of coal a day when it was inspected in September.

Recommending compliance with the timbering plan, which requires permanent posts at four-foot intervals, the inspector noted with approval that the roof was tested frequently by the workmen, including tests before and after blasting.

All the blasting cables were properly insulated, Inspector Jones reported, and all but one of the individual containers used to carry permissible explosives underground were substantial and nonconductive. However, he said that individual explosives and detonator-containers were kept too close to the track and power wires in several places, and that explosives and detonators were not kept in their containers until ready to use in one place.

Ventilation was good, the inspector found, but he advised a suitable gauge for the No. 2 ventilating fan for both fans, and he said that rooms should not be turned off an entry beyond the last open crosscut. Although most of the mine was wet, Inspector Jones advised rock-dusting all dry areas to within 80 feet of the faces. He commended adoption of permissible electric cap lamps, but he observed that smoking was practiced in the mine.

Shelter holes had been provided at switch throws and ars were secured effectively at the faces, Inspector Jones said, but he advised using enclosed trip lights, and keeping the trolley wire at least 150 feet from the pillar working.

The inspector commended posting escapeway directional signs and universal wearing of goggles for eye-hazardous work.

Blinker Light Planned For Route 40 Intersection

OAKLAND—A blinker light will be erected at the intersection of Routes 50 and 219 by the State Roads Commission according to Ronald E. McIntire, member of the House of Delegates from Garrett County.

McIntire received notification from the commission that the project would be undertaken because of numerous accidents at Red House. Authorization followed a letter from P. A. Morrison, assistant chief engineer.

Garrett 4-Her's To Show Steers In Pittsburgh

OAKLAND—Melvin Dale, Leo, Phyllis and Evelyn Custer, Swanton; and Sara Stanton, Grantsville, and Jame Glatfelter, Bittinger, will show steers at the annual livestock show in Pittsburgh next week. The latter will show steers for Dale Glatfelter who will be attending another meeting in Richmond, Va.

The show will begin November 2 with registration of members and their animals. On November 3 the animals will be weighed and judged. They will be sold at auction on the 4th.

Those going from Garrett County are members of the County 4-H Baby Beef Club and they are confident of having some outstanding steers at the show, according to Arthur L. Curtis, assistant county agent.

Football Holds Today's Spotlight; Dewey In N. Y.

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK, Oct. 29—A full quota of football games are to be network available on Saturday. Two of them are to be televised by two networks, but not the same ones their sound hookups are doing.

Here's the announced list:
Notre Dame vs. Navy at Baltimore—ABC 1:45 p. m., also televised by NBC.
Duke vs. Georgia Tech at Durham, N. C.—NBC 1:45.

Cornell vs. Columbia at New York—MBS 1:45, also televised by CBS.
California vs. Southern California at Los Angeles—CBS 4:15.

In the political arena, broadcast of a Gov. Dewey New York speech is on the agenda. It is to be carried both radio and tele, with NBC coast to coast on the broadcast and CBS east coast on the television. Time 10:30.

An election preview broadcast intended to show how the network plans to handle the election returns will be put on by ABC at 10:30. . . . Rep. Sol Bloom of New York is to be guest of Twenty Questions on MBS at 8.

Arturo Toscanini is to have the second section of his six weeks Brahms cycle with the NBC symphony on NBC at 6:30. . . . "Martha" in radio version is to be the opera for Chicago Theater of MBS at 10. . . . Orrin Tucker's orchestra, playing at Indianapolis, is to be in the National Guard Military ball of CBS at 10:30.

Just Between Us Don't Try To Get Score From Boy's Buddy; He's Sure To Talk

By NANCY MOTTRAM

"Dear Nancy: A boy that I'd secretly been fond of for a long time recently asked me for a date. I went out with him and had a wonderful time. I'm waiting for him to call me again, and he hasn't. I don't know what to think, but I know how I could find out why he hasn't paid any more attention to me. I know one of his buddies very well, and I could talk to him. What do you think of this idea?"

(A) Everybody is tempted to try to write information out of a boy's best friend, but it isn't a good idea. More often than not, that same "buddy" will go right back to the lad in question and tell all. And once your current flame finds out that you're eking him up on him, he's very likely to end your little romance right there. He's free to do as he pleases, and he doesn't want any girl to keep tabs on him. It's hard to sit around and wait for that phone to ring, but if you really want to get to know him better, it's safer.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: This is my first year at college, and the boy I'm most interested in is going to school a few hundred miles away. Another boy from my home town is attending college near mine and has written to me and asked to come down several times. I don't want to date him, but I can't think of any way to tell him without causing hard feelings. What can I say to him?"

(A) If you don't want to put "no" in black and white in your return letter, you can tell him that you had other things planned or that you're sorry, but you're very busy. He won't make the trip down if you've told him you can't see him, and if every answer from him is discouraging, he'll realize it's no use and drop the subject.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: About two weeks ago, I broke up with a boy whom I'd been going steady with for two years. I haven't had a date since and the future doesn't look bright. Everyone knows that I've been going steady for ages, and even though it's all over now, not one boy has called me. I don't like to have to sit home every weekend, but what can I do about it?"

(A) That's one of the disadvantages of going steady. You've been out of circulation so long that it's going to take some time to get back in. You can start by letting everyone know that your dating is no longer a "one man" affair and the word will get around. It may be another week or two, or maybe several, before you have a Saturday night date, but after one boy breaks the ice, you'll be back in the swing of things in no time. If you have a school, family or friend problem, Nancy can help you. Letters are answered in this column.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved wife and mother, who died October 29, 1946. Two years have passed since that sad day. When the one we loved was called away.

God took her home, it was his will. Within our hearts she lives still. Sadly missed by her husband, Mr. James Smith and family.

In loving memory of my dear son, Allen Brown, who departed this life ten years ago today, Oct. 30, 1938. The years may wipe out many things but this will never fade. The memory of those happy days. When we were all together.

In loving memory of our beloved mother, wife, and daughter, Mrs. Anna J. Cessna, who departed this life 5 years ago today, October 30, 1943.

A loving heart, a tender smile, a loving heart that knew no guile. Deep trust in God, that all was right. Her joy to make some others bright. If sick or suffering one knew, Some gentle act of love she'd do. No thought of self, but of "the other." We know her said, "We'd come, dear Mother."

Sadly missed by children, husband and mother.

Voting Machines Will Reduce Election Costs

GOP-Democrats Endorse Devices

Report On 2-Year Nutrition Survey To Be Given Here

Meeting Sessions Set For Nov. 4, 5

In spite of opposition voiced yesterday by the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners, proponents of voting machines last night insisted that the adoption of the devices would bring about a substantial saving in election costs in this county.

The Board's action, which followed a resolution presented by Charles N. Wilkinson, president, is in direct opposition to the action of the Board of Election Supervisors and the State Central Committees of both the Republican and Democratic parties of Allegheny County.

A spokesman for the Board of Election Supervisors said that body is and has been strongly in favor of the use of voting machines both from the point of savings and from the elimination of disenfranchisement of voters through spoiled ballots.

Reports from several recent recounts, the spokesman said, indicate that thousands of voters have been deprived of their rights at the polls as a result of mistakes made on ballots.

Endorse Machines
Both the Republican and Democratic State Central Committees have endorsed the voting machine amendments in sample ballots which will be distributed to constituents.

Although organized labor in Allegheny County took no stand on the purchase of voting machines, sentiment seems to be swinging toward their adoption, particularly since the Board of County Commissioners gave the green light for the construction of badly needed schools in Ellerslie, Mt. Savage and Lonaconing.

An AFL official said labor groups did not endorse the machines since they felt the money being spent for schools, adding that if the people want voting machines and they will save money, labor will be in favor of their adoption.

Another labor official said he was glad to endorse the use of voting machines but because of their efficiency and the speed with which results are made available.

Financing Planned
In the County Commissioners' resolution yesterday, it was stated the purchase of voting machines will increase the county tax rate 13 cents on one cent on the tax rate, based upon existing assessable basis, this statement is correct only if the County Commissioners intend to pay cash for the machines in a single year, citizens supporting the machines say.

Proponents of the machines last night were wondering when the county would go on a cash basis, and when the county began making its capital investments on a cash basis.

One of the voting machine referendum to be voted upon Tuesday is clearly and distinctly for the purpose of financing the purchase over a period of time, proponents point out, so the savings made possible by the machines can be used to purchase them.

Companies manufacturing the machines offer a financing plan at two per cent interest on a five-year or ten-year plan. Either of these plans, business men believe, would be sound.

One Cent Sufficient
Under such a plan of financing, it would not be necessary to increase the tax rate 13 cents but only about one cent, if the ten-year plan is used, and about two cents if the five-year plan is adopted, it is pointed out. By saving the machines make possible make payments, proponents say, adding it must be remembered that after they are paid for, this one or two cent increase in taxes can be eliminated and as a result of the savings in election costs, almost another cent is cut off the tax rate.

No Legal Objection
Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the Board of Election Supervisors, when asked for an opinion on the legality of storing voting machines in schools, fire houses and community buildings, said he knew of no legal objection to such a move.

In communities where voting machines have been adopted, it is common practice to store the devices in buildings as near as possible to the polling place.

Ryan said the places the voting machines would be stored would be left to the discretion of the Election Supervisors who are charged with the responsibility for all voting equipment.

He pointed out that voting booths here are stored in a central location chiefly as a matter of convenience.

It was pointed out by a proponent for voting machines that records taken from the machines are impounded in a safe, central place and without moving the entire machine.

The machine itself is foolproof, tamper proof and accurate, voting machine manufacturers say, and its setting cannot be altered without the presence of election officials and five different keys are necessary to change the setup for any election.

There is no case on record where the accuracy of a voting machine has been challenged, and the machines have been in use in the United States for 50 years.

Musical Workshop For Elementary Teachers Planned November 3, 4, 5

Elementary teachers of grades one, two and three will attend one of six music workshop sessions to be presented by the county November 3, 4 and 5 by Miss Dorothy Wagner, specialist in elementary music education.

Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, who announced the music conference yesterday, said the Board of Education is endeavoring to develop a music education program second to none in the country.

To gain such an objective, Dr. Kopp said, it is necessary to have the complete understanding and cooperation of all of the teachers concerned.

The conference schedule calls for the first meeting to be held November

Findings of a nutrition survey conducted in Allegheny County for the past two years will be revealed at a two-day meeting scheduled to be held at Mt. Royal School November 4 and 5.

The facts obtained by the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, will be presented during the first day, Dr. Charles L. Kopp, school superintendent, said.

Meetings of the second day will be devoted to working the findings into the county schools' hot lunch program "in a general way," according to Dr. Kopp. Specific details will be taken up at a series of meetings to be held later.

Pilot Survey
Dr. Kopp deferred to the study as a pilot survey and said the USDA unit worked with students in Columbia Street and East Side Schools, East Side has a cafeteria program and Columbia did not at the time of the survey.

The health of students participating in the hot lunch program will be compared with students who do not. Such things as the chemical analysis of blood will be compared to demonstrate the program's benefits.

Dr. Kopp will open the meeting with a report of the progress of the program and survey, with Dr. Millard L. Hathaway, nutrition specialist of the bureau, following with a report on the survey.

The home nutrition survey report will be given by Miss Betty Brown, dietitian, and Dr. Betty Lockwood, Department of Nutrition, Harvard University, presenting facts obtained during a survey in Newton, Mass.

At the first day's afternoon session, Dr. Clarence A. Velat, assistant surgeon, Nutrition Unit, United States Public Health Service, will continue the nutrition survey report.

Panel Discussion Planned
Next, Mrs. E. B. McCollum, assistant professor of bio-chemistry, Johns Hopkins University, School of Hygiene and Public Health, will address the meeting and two state department supervisors will discuss "Nutrition Education."

Panel discussions will dominate the afternoon session to the second day with adjournment scheduled for 3:30 p. m.

Rome Strikers Appeal To NLRB

ROME, Ga., Oct. 29 (AP)—Strikers at the Celanese Plant here, who averaged $12.16 an hour before they walked out 76 days ago, went to the Labor Relations Board today with their fight for a 15 per cent increase.

Isadore Katz, attorney for the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), filed charges against the company with the NLRB. He charged the company with violating the Taft-Hartley law in refusing to bargain collectively or to mediate the dispute.

The company offered an eight per cent wage increase, which it said would bring the wage level to $13.11 an hour. The union rejected the offer and struck.

Paul Stiles, regional NLRB director at Atlanta, asked representatives of the union and the company to meet with him Monday to discuss the nature of the TWUA charges.

The NLRB will hold a two-day hearing before Superior Court Judge H. G. Nichols on picking the Celanese Plant. Nichols will hear both sides on whether to make a temporary order against mass picketing permanent.

He also has summoned some 50 strikers to answer charge that they violated the temporary restraining order.

Felker Is Held In Bond Default

Roy Edward Felker, Eckhart, arrested Wednesday on charges of breaking and entering and larceny, waived preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate Court yesterday and was ordered held in default of $500 bond.

State Police Investigator William Baker said Felker signed a confession admitting to the theft of money and jewels totaling $100 from the home of Ralph Bowser, Eckhart. The jewelry was recovered.

Bills Of Complaint

Three bills of complaint were filed in Circuit Court yesterday: Robert Easton against Robert Easton, Thomas L. Day against Elizabeth P. Day, and Belle B. Twigg against Obieona Twigg.

On November 4 the 10 to noon session will be conducted at Centre Street School and the 2:15 to 4:15 p. m. group will meet at Hill Street School, Frostburg.

The morning session on November 5, which will also be from 10 a. m. to noon, will be at Hammond Street School, Westport, and the 2:15 to 4:15 p. m. session will be at Central High School, Lonaconing.

The spread of sessions will enable all teachers from the required grades to attend one of the six sessions without traveling too far from their own school, Dr. Kopp explained.

Schools' Physical Education System Will Be Revised

General Meeting Is Set For Wednesday

The first major move to revise the physical education and health program in Allegheny County's Public Schools will be initiated Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. when principals, supervisors, and physical education teachers meet at West Side School.

There is perhaps no greater need in the whole area of education, Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, said yesterday in announcing the meeting which will be attended by Dr. Lloyd M. Jones, State College, Pa.

"Our plans," Dr. Kopp said, "are being developed in co-operation with directors of education and supervisors from the State Department of Education and with Dr. Jones."

The plan represents a large measure a pioneering into physical education and health fields, according to Dr. Kopp. He added that the meeting Wednesday will be very important in that the point of view which will be used to see the program underway will be expressed.

The physical education and health program includes nutrition, medical examination, remedial treatment for physically handicapped, biological development of the human body, sanitation, personal health and athletics.

The physical education teachers of Allegheny County have taken the initiative in expressing the great need which is evident in the area of health, and their interest in the whole program has been most vital, Dr. Kopp declared, adding "as a result of their interest the program is being undertaken."

Present plans call for the appearance for four or five men and women of national prominence in the field of education during the year to lecture on various aspects of education with specific implications on physical education and health, Dr. Kopp declared.

The meetings will be scheduled at a time when every teacher in the county will have an opportunity to attend the lectures. The lecture dates will be announced later.

Wednesday night's meeting will see the discussion of the program as it is contemplated for development and an opportunity will be given all present to question details.

Basic plans for the program have been worked out at a series of preliminary meetings held by educators at the Board of Education offices.

Council To Screen Deputy Smoke Inspector Tests

Examination papers of 11 applicants for the post of deputy smoke inspector have been rated, and the papers will be "screened" by the Mayor and Council on Monday, George M. Hitchcock, city smoke abatement engineer, said yesterday.

Hitchcock said John Connelly, former professor of mechanical engineering at Lehigh University, who is assistant chief engineer at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, acted as an impartial arbiter in rating the papers.

Rating was done Thursday afternoon in the presence of Hitchcock, City Attorney Thomas R. Finan and Mrs. Nellie Long, Hitchcock's secretary.

Following final screening of the examination papers by city officials, the three applicants with the highest ratings will be interviewed later next week, Hitchcock said.

He added the Mayor and Council is expected to set the salary and the length of the contract term for the position next week.

Each of the 11 applicants will be notified of his test score within a few days.

Hitchcock said that under an agreement with the Civil Service Commission, the examinations were handled through his office.

This was done, he said, because the position will be filled on a contract basis. Likewise, Hitchcock explained, it was believed that men with the required experience might be ineligible under Civil Service age restrictions, and that the particular type of technical test could best be handled with examinations being given on an individual basis.

Fort Ashby Auxiliary Has Children's Party

The Ladies Auxiliary of Fort Ashby Post No. 6667, Veterans of Foreign Wars, entertained children of the Fort Ashby community Thursday night with a masquerade Halloween party at the VFW Cottage here.

More than 50 children attended the party sponsored by 13 members of the Auxiliary headed by Mrs. George Buskey, president.

Prizes were awarded to children for the funniest, homeliest and most beautiful costumes. Following group games, refreshments of sandwiches, home made gingerbread and hot chocolate were served. Children attending said they hoped the party would be an annual event.

The Ladies Auxiliary will serve a turkey supper in the VFW Home November 20 from 5 to 8 p. m. The public is invited.

BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital announced the following births yesterday: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Shawen, Romney, W. Va., a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Priddy, Ellerslie, a daughter.

Mummers Parade Will Be Held Monday Night

Baltimore Street To Be Roped Off

The first "Mummers Parade" to be held in Cumberland in a number of years is scheduled for Monday night, when the parade will be held on Baltimore Street, Commissioner Edgar Reynolds reminded yesterday.

Reynolds said the Forty and Eight of the American Legion is co-operating in the move to revive the annual Halloween event, adding it is hoped to hold similar parades each year in the future.

Arrangements have been made with the Police Department to rope off Baltimore Street from Mechanic to George Street Monday night from 7 until midnight.

Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., will serve as parade marshal.

Reynolds said the parade is open to children and adults, with no age limits. Approximately 30 cash prizes will be awarded for the best costumes in various classifications.

Music for the parade will be furnished by the drum and bucle corps of Fulton Myers Post No. 153, American Legion.

The parade will form at the State Armory at 7 p. m. and will march up South George Street to Baltimore Street, going down Baltimore Street to Mechanic Street and swinging back up the other side of the street, disbanding in front of the First National Bank.

Fifteen members of the Forty and Eight will be stationed at various points along Baltimore Street to act as judges. They will receive cards and go to a designated point to receive their prizes.

After the parade disbands at approximately 8:15, a "mardi gras" will be held on Baltimore Street, with dancing and a general celebration, Reynolds said.

Special police details will be on hand to prevent rowdiness and disorder.

Other musical units in this area were invited to attend but had already accepted invitations to march in the Mummers Parade being held in Hagerstown the same evening.

West Side Firemen "Extinguish" Smoke

Thick smoke filled the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barnet Beneman, 113 Chase Street, late yesterday morning.

Believing the house to be on fire, the occupants called West Side firemen.

When the firemen arrived at 10:44 a. m. they found the house filled with smoke. After considerable investigation, they traced the source of the trouble to a piece of kitchen equipment.

A piece of badly burnt toast was found smoldering in an electric toaster.

Chinese Official Is Guest Here

Dr. Ping-Wen Kuo, a former member of China's Department of Finance, who is now executive director of the Chinese-American Institute of Social Science, Washington, has been visiting in Cumberland for the past three days.

Dr. Ping-Wen, who for a number of years was president of the National Southeastern University of China, is the guest of W. Carl Richards, local attorney.

The two men were classmates at Wooster College and Columbia University during their school days. Dr. Ping-Wen then returned to China.

During the war he served on various foreign missions for the Chinese Government and later was a member of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, a position he held until recently.

All American To Ask Service Within State

Support Of City Will Be Sought

City officials will be asked to support All American Airways in its effort to obtain a certificate of convenience from the Maryland Public Service Commission for intrastate commerce, David I. Miller, secretary and traffic manager of the line, said yesterday.

Miller, who conferred here with city officials and members of the Municipal Airport Commission, announced that his company will start daily air passenger, mail and express service for Cumberland on or about February 15.

The company official said the city will be asked to join with All American as an interested party in a hearing to be conducted before the PSC, requesting that the commission grant the airline a certificate of convenience for intrastate commerce which would allow the firm to serve local communities within the state.

The certificate is granted, the airline could establish service between Cumberland, Hagerstown, Frederick, Baltimore and other points in Maryland.

At present, Miller explained, the airline holds a franchise only for intrastate service.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan suggested that Miller submit his request to the Mayor and Council in writing at an early date.

Miller was in the city yesterday making further arrangements to start service here and said the company fully expects to get final approval from the Civil Aeronautics Board before January 1.

Executer Asks Court To Consume Will

Lorraine Eisenberg, executrix of the estate of Martha W. Stern, has petitioned the Circuit Court to consume the provisions of the will in an action filed in equity against the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, an agency of the committee, the court said.

The petition says the will provides for a bequest to the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, 342 Madison Avenue, New York, after distribution of other bequests.

The petition further states that the distribution committee is located at 270 Madison Avenue in New York and that the United Jewish Appeal, an agency of the committee, is located at the address listed in the will.

The court has been asked to determine the proper procedure in awarding the bequest.

The Stern woman died October 4, 1946.

Three Referenda, 7 Amendments Appear On Ballot

Voters To Decide Various Questions

First two referenda on the official ballots to be marked by Allegheny County voters in Tuesday's presidential election pertain to the voting machine question in this county.

The first referendum is to determine if the County Commissioners shall be empowered to borrow up to $140,000 for the purchase of voting machines by the Board of Election Supervisors.

The second referendum on the question is designed to determine whether voting machines shall be made mandatory in Allegheny County.

Both the Republican and Democratic State Central Committees of Allegheny County, in marked sample ballots being distributed throughout the county, recommend voting "for" in regard to both referenda pertaining to voting machines.

The sample ballots of both parties are identical in the referendum and constitutional amendments marked.

Elgin Amendment Unmarked
The three constitutional amendments involving Baltimore are not marked, nor is the referendum pertaining to the duties and term of office of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

The remaining four constitutional amendments are all marked "for" on sample ballots of both parties.

Voting machines have been legalized for use in Maryland and at the last session of the General Assembly, two bills were passed to make them mandatory in Allegheny County and to provide the County Commissioners with financing powers in acquiring the machines.

By petition, the County Commissioners blocked the purchase of voting machines and had the measures put to referendum. Hence the issue will be decided in the November 2 election.

The third referendum on the ballot relates to the term of office and duties of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. If the referendum is approved by the people, the commissioner's term of office would run for four years, starting July 1, 1947.

The present incumbent, W. Lee Elgin, was appointed during the administration of Governor O'Connor and his term of office continued into the current administration of Governor Lane.

Political observers said yesterday that the proposed changes covered by the referendum would enable Governor Lane to oust Elgin from office if the referendum is approved.

In addition to the three referenda (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

The Weather
Cumberlanders anticipating football weekends or Halloween outings looked at the perfect sky yesterday and wondered if it were a freak and would break today. The high 72 degrees after a bracingly cool 39 degrees minimum made the office and house-bound wish more than ever they were outside. Late last night the thermometer went down to 46 degrees, but unless the weatherman is trying to deceive, today should live up to the week's promise and stay warm and sunny.

New Parking Lot Augments Space For Autos Here

Additional Space For 100 Cars Open

The city's off-street parking facilities will be augmented, at least temporarily, by the opening today of a new parking lot on South Centre Street expected to accommodate 100 automobiles.

Edwin R. Lyla, Traffic Division head, said space on the new lot, located between Salem and Williams Streets, added to five lots now operating will provide space for approximately 600 automobiles at any given time.

A transportation company presently operating the lot, which is owned by W. Wallace McKaig, president of Cumberland Steel Company, agreed yesterday to plans presented by Lt. Lyla and said they would offer parking space today.

Lt. Lyla explained that he has conferred with McKaig several times in the past week on the possibilities of converting the space into a parking area for the convenience of motoring shoppers.

After learning that the lot was leased to the transportation company for a short period, Lt. Lyla said he obtained consent from McKaig and then offered his plan to company officials.

The lot will be open to the public at least until after the Christmas shopping period, Lt. Lyla said, adding, "Of course it is a private enterprise and will be operated on a commercial basis."

McKaig confirmed Lyla's statement last night and said an additional lot after the lot was not leased is being offered to drivers for storage space on a monthly basis.

Despite the fact that the lot is not a permanent solution under the present setup, Lt. Lyla termed the additional space a "relief much needed" under the present traffic problem.

Within Walking Distance
The additional lots, Lt. Lyla declared, are all located within walking distance of Baltimore Street, and are prepared to give space ranging from 20 to 125 vehicles each.

Persons intending to patronize business houses on North Baltimore Street can find two lots on North Liberty Street and one on North George Street, one of which has a drive in from Frederick Street, he pointed out.

Other lots are located on South Liberty Street and North Baltimore Street. In addition to the privately operated lots, the traffic officials said there are upward to 400 parking meters in and surrounding the business area.

If most motorists patronize shopping tours that will extend beyond an hour would patronize the lots and leave meter space for persons who will be stopping for relatively short periods of time, Lt. Lyla declared, the parking problem will be alleviated.

The fact that the lots provide space for only 600 cars is not the full picture, Lt. Lyla declared, since many of the automobiles are parked for two or three hours and then driven away, leaving space for "bumper to bumper" parking.

Considering this, along with statistics from other cities, he said over a 24-hour period the lots probably provide space for approximately 2,400 cars. The foreign statistics show that four cars will use any one space over a 24-hour period.

3 Teenagers Held On Theft Charges

A 15-year-old Bowman's Addition youth arrested in the act of breaking and entering a grocery store in his neighborhood, last night was being held in Allegheny County Jail. Police said he also admitted stealing a watch and $8 from the home of Robert Weaver, Bowman's Addition, last week.

Two Locust Grove youths, both 14, were released in the custody of their parents late last night, after State Trooper William F. Baker said they admitted to knocking down 11-year-old Milton Sarver, Locust Grove, and taking $3 from him, near his home early last night.

The three youths will be taken to Juvenile Court.

Local Briefs

Maj. E. S. Dzure, officer in charge of the Marine Recruiting Districts of Delaware and Maryland inspected the local recruiting office yesterday.

Allegheny County Public Schools will be closed, Tuesday, election day, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, has announced.

A larceny charge against Robert Elliott, Fairmont, W. Va., was dismissed yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court due
